U. S. Opens Drive on Forest Fires

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The government has opened the sixth annual forest fire prevention campaign with some grim statistics: Forest, woods and range fires last year burned over saw-timber trees to build 86,000 five-room houses. They destroyed enough pole-sized trees to provide a year's supply of newsprint for every newspaper in the United States. Forestry officials said the above is evidence that forest fires, although decreasing in number, are still a major national problem. Forest fires dropped to 172,000 last year, as compared with an annual pre-war average of 210,000. Officials said nine out of 10 forest fires are man-caused. A 31 per cent increase in the number of persons visiting national forests now, compared with 1941, means there is greater necessity for caution to prevent increased fire losses. The fire prevention campaign was announced jointly by the forest service, the agriculture department, the association of State Foresters, and the Advertising Council. "We can't prevent the 10 per cent of our forest fires that result from lightning," Secretary of

Youthful Kilt-Hater Gets Cowboy Suit

AUSTIN, Tex.—(U.P.)—A Scottish lad is going to receive the answer to his dreams, a full cowboy rig, in response to a letter he wrote to the Sheriff of Texas, America, U.S.A. A ten-year-old David MacGowan of Strathgairne, Scotland, a professed kilt-hater who wants to be a cowboy, wrote the letter, which wound up in the hands of Sheriff H. W. Collins of Travis County. In addition to a full cowboy ensemble ranging from Texas-made boots to a gun belt and suit, Collins enclosed something to make the other Scottish lads take notice: an autographed picture of a "real live Texas sheriff." A little rebel himself, David said he wanted to be a cowboy, though his father had hopes he would turn into an architect. And as for his native Scottish dress was concerned, David wrote: "I hate my old kilt." Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson said: "But each one of us can be sure that he does not contribute to starting the other 90 per cent through a lighted match dropped in the woods, a neglected campfire or other inexcusable carelessness."
