Q. By what method will peo ple be chosen to take the 1950 federal census?-E. C. G.

A. The Bureau of the Census says that the states are divided into districts which in turn are divided into units, if thickly divided into units, if uncov populated. Each district will have a supervisor who in turn will have aides and assistants. In January 1950, applications will be taken for the position of census enumerator. Notices will be inserted in local newspa-ners and posted in government pers and posted in government buildings, etc. These notices will direct whom to contact and where to make application for employment. A "key" person will interview the applicants. Acceptances will be based on the outcome of interviews. In March, there will be a training period before the actual taking of the census figures begins in April.

Q. What was the record height

Q. What was the record height recently attained by an airplane in England?—S. C. H. A. A new unofficial altitude record of 59,492 feet was set on March 23 by Test Pilot John Cunningham in a De Havilland Vampire fighter with a "Ghost" jet engine. The international record of 56,046 feet was set by Colonel Pezzi of Italy in 1938.

Today's hand was sent to me by W. H. Adams of London, Ontario, Canada, a reader of my column in the London Free Press, Mr. Adams wrote, "If the hand shows nothing else, it certainly shows the importance of returning your partner's opening lead."

Against six spades East opens the queen of diamonds, West wins and returns a diamond, which East ruffs.

There are other interesting angles in connection with this hand. Many players with the South hand would get into a preemptive club or diamond bid. That is true also of the West hand. Probably not many West players would open the bidding with one heart, but if that does happen North certainly should take better action than one spade. In my opinion North should bid two spades, East still will bid three hearts, and then South should come into the bid-only small slam contract that can surely be made is six diamonds.

monds. Declarer has to play it care-fully. If West opens the single-ton spade against six diamonds, dummy's ace wins, and the heart is trumped by South. Now he has to lead a small diamond to-ward the king. If West plays low, declarer must go up with the king and catch East's single-ton queen. West wins the ace of diamonds, but that is the only trick he can get. trick he can get.
