ON BRIDGE By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY.

McKENNEY

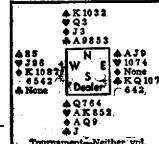

TODAY'S hand is a great examole of teamwork in bridge. The bidding was normal enough and most pairs experienced no difficulty in making four spades, with one exception.

At one table East gave some

At one table East gave some thought to his opening lead, and instead of leading the king of clubs as practically every other East player did, he led the club queen. He was not playing the convention of underleading touching honors. He simply thought that since he was void of diamonds his partner might possibly be void in clubs.

In every case where the king

In every case where the king of clubs was opened West did not trump. But when the queen of clubs was opened West trumped with the five of spades.
