Ann Blyth May Play Lead in 'Chicken Every Sunday'

By EDITH GWYNN
HOLLYWOOD—Fox is dickering for Ann Blyth to be the femme lead in "Chicken Every Sunday." Time was when they had a deal on to borrow Pane Powell from Metro, but the thing fell through. The re-teaming of Claudette Colbert and Fred MacMurray in their current "Family Honeymoon" augurs well for all concerned. "The Egg and I," which they made together, made a fortune for just about every-one connected with it.

Claudette postponed start of her first personally produced production, "The Soft Touch," to make "Family Honeymoon." This is the hilarious Homer Croy novel which Roz Russell had her heart set on doing. It's all about a widow who takes her children along with her on her second honeymoon, with her second spouse, of course.

While Clark Gable is starring in the star-studded film version of "Command Decision," Paul Kelly is continuing his success in that show on Broadway. But Kelly can make a picture any time he wants to. In fact, he gets a month's vacation this summer, and Pine and Thomas want him to rush out here to make "The Man Who Stole a Dream." Pine and Thomas are just the boys who could dash off a feature picture in a mere month, too!

All those stories about how Eden Ahbez left the manuscript of "Nature Boy" with Nat "King" Cole, etc. are off the beam. For details, see song-writer Johnny Mercer. He got the first squint at the song when barefooted Ahbez dashed up to him in a parking lot and thrust it into his hands—and it went on to glory.

He made his debut just before he removed the spectacular dash to Mercer's side—with his beard waving in the breeze.

Celeste Holm and Schuyler Dunning have finally bought a house and they entertained the entire visiting University of Norway Women's Choir who literally "sang for their supper." They're on a nationwide tour of one-night stands, and one of them, Frieda Holm, is Celeste's cousin.

Pine and Thomas (called "The Dollar Bills" because they make good pictures for little money) caught Dick Foran's singing at Las Vegas and are bringing him back to pictures in a series of westerns.

Peter Lawford's experiences returning here from N. Y. in a train compartment with Michael Sloane and his 75 pound German Shepherd dog would make a funny short, short story. For one thing, the hound refused to let Pete lie down.

City Farmers Club Tours Oscar Mayer and Co.

Members of the Madison City Farmers club were taken on a tour of the Oscar Mayer and Co. plant recently and were luncheon guests of the company. They were shown the way in which animals are received at the plant, butchered and processed.

Roy Ormond, farm service director, and other staff members explained the method of buying live stock and explained how prices paid to farmers are based on quality and grades.

Couple of Partners Check Guns Out Thar

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (U.P.)—A pistol and a revolver were checked in the police station today. The guns belong to an estranged couple.

Officers said the pair came to the police station and said they wanted to keep the firearms out of circulation until after they get a divorce.

Journalism Alumni of U. W. to Hold on Campus June 19

Wisconsin journalism alumni will hold a one-day reunion at the University school of journalism on Commencement day, June 19. Some of the 210 alumni and former students living in Madison are in charge of the plans.

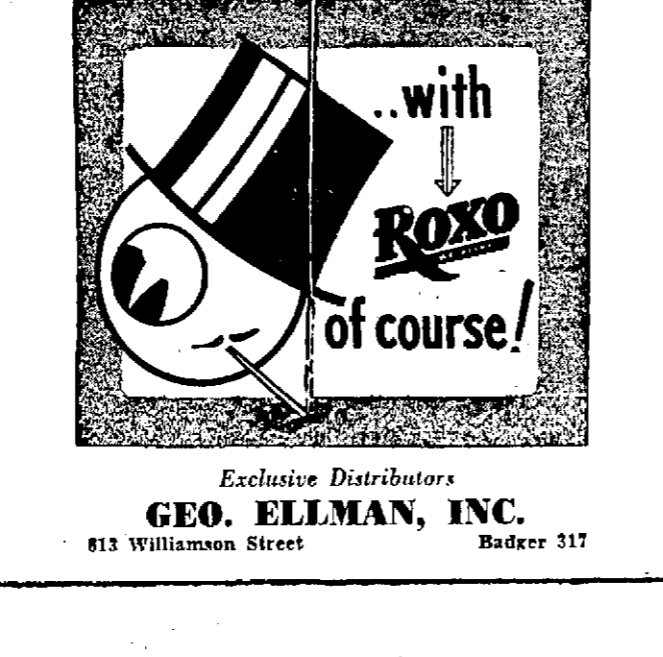

The gathering will be a belated substitute for the regular five-year reunion of 1945 which the school cancelled. It will celebrate 43 years of journalism instruction at the university—during which time 1,713 bachelors and 143 masters in journalism have gone out of South hall. The roll of 2,331 graduates and former students is called in the Fifth Journalism Alumni Directory, recently issued.

The reunion will center around an open house in South Hall during the late morning and a pack-and-lunch picnic during the afternoon. Journalism alumni who attend the general alumni banquet in the evening will have a special table.

Plans for the gathering are being made by a local committee consisting of Ralph D. Timmons '26, chairman; William I. Doudna '26, George R. Stephenson '28, Earl R. Thayer '47, Helen M. Matheson '42, Mrs. Mary Brandegee Hopkins '27, Mrs. Josephine Pearson Radder '38, three faculty members, and four 1948 graduating seniors. All reservations are being handled by Prof. Grant M. Hyde, director of the school.
