Answer to Question No. 2

Yes, According to the National Office of Vital Statistics, the people who died in U. S. in 1946 average 6 years older than those who died in 1933. What a triumph for medical science! However, women in 1933 died at average 59.2 and in 1946 at 66.3—an increase of 7.1 years. Men died in 1933 at average age 57.5 and in 1946 at 62.7 years—an inand in 1946 at 62.7 years—an in-crease of only 5.2 years, Plainly women are outstripping men in more ways than one.

field.

In today's hand South was using the two demand bid which required his partner to show aces. Therefore, North's three club bid simply showed the ace of clubs. The three heart bid by South was an asking bid, and North's response showed the king of hearts. So all South had to do was to bid seven spades.

At this point East led the seven spades.

At this point East led the king of diamonds out of turn. The tournament director called, and he explained the rule. The king of diamonds could be treated as a penalty card, which meant that it would have to be left face up on the table and East would be required to play it at his first opportunity.

Or else the declarer could condone the lead, in which case it would stand, South's hand would become the dummy and North would have to play the contract.

In this case, South elected to call for a heart lead. He knew that North held the king of hearts, and he wanted to guard against the loss of a heart trick. But to his amazement East trumped the trick and returned the king of diamonds. Now declarer was so upset that by mistake he put the ace of hearts on the king of diamonds and immediately West put on the ace of diamonds and won the trick. He returned another of diamonds and won the trick. He returned another heart for East to ruff, and a perfectly good seven contract was down three tricks.
