given to horses in harness rac-ing? J. D.

A. The United States Trotting A. The United States Trotting Association says that in races of heats, the starting positions of the horses are drawn by lot by the judges prior to the first heat. In the succeeding heats, unless otherwise specified in the published conditions, the horses start in the position in which they finished in the preceding heat. In dash races, the positions are drawn by lot by the judges in the presence of the owners or their representatives.

Q. Did the Chinese know the value of iodine before it was discovered in Europe? G. R. M. A. The element iodine was not discovered until 1812 but the Chinese nearly 4000 years ago used it in the form of ashes of seaweed in treating goiter. In Europe since the sixth century. perhaps earlier, the ashes of seaweed and sponge were employed for the same purpose. Iodized salt has been used extensively for the past quarter century.

Q. What is the size of a hummingbird at birth? M. McC.
A. At birth, a young hummingbird is no bigger than a pea. However, the birds grow rapidly and in two weeks are as big as their parents.

Q. What does the name "Cutty Sark" mean as applied to the famous clipper? C. N. T.

East returned the queen of spades, which was trumped in dummy's ace, and when the singleton king dropped, Beynon discarded adiamond from dummy and won with the queen. The third round of diamonds was trumped by East with the leuce of hearts.

At this point East made the mistake of returning a spade. Beynon discarded a diamond and trumped in dummy with his last heart, the six-spot. No he cashed the ace and queen of clubs, and on the queen discarded his last diamond.

Thus he was left with the ace and trumped in dummy and he had East was left with the jack and nine of hearts. Beynon led a diamond from dummy and he had East couped. East trumped with the ten and laid down the ace for the last trick.

Answer to Question No. 2

No, boys, it means he has a good sense of humor and is prob-ably bright mentally. It takes brains to see the subtle relationorains to see in studie relations when they are out of kilter. This is what makes them seem funny. It isn't always the one who laughs the loudest who has the best sense of humor; but if he doesn't laugh at good jokes, he is probably weak in the belfry.

Answer to Question No. 3

Depends on the kind of activities. Psychologists Feder and Koulin found students who engaged in such activities as class or fraternity offices, reporting for school or college paper, managing social and other ecents, were the very students who made high grades. Too much

He was blamed for a depression actually caused by forces that were in motion long before he became President. He was pictured as a heartless, bungling reactionary. He was maligned, with half-truths and outright falsehoods, by men who sought not only to drive him from the White House but also to sign him forever to the national doghouse.

What was done to Mr. Hoover has weighed heavily on the consciences of many Americans. One of these is Eugene Lyons, magazine editor and veteran foreign correspondent, who in the 1936 Presidential campaign took some part in the spreading of anti-Hoover propaganda.

For whatever he did then Mr. Lyons has atoned now by writing a book—"Our Unknown Ex-President." In it he has sought to draw a truer portrait of Herbert Hoover; the portrait of a man of dignity and honor and high ability who, rising from humble origin, has crowded into one life span three great careers as engineer, humanitarian and public servant.

We are glad such a book has been written, and ably written with a wealth of historical data to support its statements. It comes at a time when Mr. Hoover is still among us, still giving distinguished and useful service to his country. It comes, too, at a time when there are countless evidences of a grow-

An Open Letter to Hearing Aid Users

Thank you for a very successful month of June. We hope it reflects your approval of our efforts in trying to put this business of hearing aid service on a professional footing.

As you may have noticed—there have been no hearing aid or battery peddlers, invading your home, that represent the Long Beach office of Western Electric Hearing Aids.

ern Electric Hearing Aids.

We realize that your home is the best place for you to recognize the benefits of a well fitted hearing aid, but, we also realize that fitting your hearing aid well, in your home is quite difficult. Fitting requires complicated instruments and qualified Electronic Technicians (not salesmen). We would like nothing better than giving you an hour or more of good sound for your defective hearing right in your own home—but—we do await your personal invitation.

Yours truly, MR. & MRS. R. L. BROWN

P. S.—When you wear a hearing aid it usually gives you all the sounds you hear, so our motto—SOUND SERVICE FOR A SOUND INVESTMENT.

Watch each Sunday for a continuation of this letter to promote a more technical approach to your hearing problem.

Apparently not from the collection of boners from exams of first-year psychology students by N. Y. U. psychologist W. L. Barnette. One student informs us: "The male is the stronger of the two and is built more in the shape of a square, while the female is built more in the curved shape. The female has a high voice, the male a deep voice. Well, that makes the difference clear, or does it?
