Elizabeth Relaxes

Elizabeth Taylor, M-G-M's beautiful star, spends her spare moments away from the studio at the beach, with her French poodle as a constant companion. The young actress follows her "growing-up" role in "A Date With Judy," with a romantic role opposite Peter Lawford in "Julia Misbehaves."

Met's Closing Means More Money for Top-Flight Stars

HOLLYWOOD—Now that the proposed closing of the Metropolitan Opera for next season has been front-paged across the land, here are some sidelights on the situation. For those who depend on the Met salary alone, the going is going to be rough. For some—like Rise Stevens, Lily Pons, Lauritz Melchior, Bjoerling, et la—it means more income because they can make more concert tours—where the big money is. Also, many of the Met stars who are in Hollywood for their vacations will linger and make this their headquarters for concert and raand devoting four pages to t will linger and make this their headquarters for concert and radio work. The stiff-laced Met heads laughed at Ezio Pinza when he said some months ago he'd signed to do a musical show for Rodgers and Hammerstein on Bway. Now he's laffing — and they're not even smiling! And now that it's rumored that Billy Rose of stage, night-club, and Aquacade fame, may take over the Metopera and stream-line it, we hear all the lung-busters are hear all the lung-busters are learning to swim!

Over at 20th-Fox, they're so hot for Clifton Webb (and rightly so) after his tremendous success in "Sitting Pretty" that they already have two pictures ahead lined up for him. Right after he finishes "Mr. Belvedere Goes to College," he'll do "Stay Away from My Door" from the story "Mr. Cuddeback Fights Back." And F. Hugh Herbert, who wrote and directed "Sitting Pretty" and its sequel now before the cameras, will also script "Stay Away." At the moment, Anne Baxter is slated to be Webb's leading lady—and George Jessel will produce.
