MCKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By WILLAM E. MCKENNEY

FOR some time, I have been working on the develop-ment of a card show for television, and there are times when it is heinful to have four players at a table to try out. certain ideas. Sometimes we work on set hands, and again we just deal the hands out. A friend of mine, Leslie Evan-Roberts of New York City, was a player on one occasion when the hand shown today was dealt

Roberts (North) was not sure koperts (North) was not sure whether it was a regularly dealt hand, or one that I had handed to him, but he knew that he had to be very careful if he was going to make the contract. The South player had given an optimistic raise of two spades, but the bid proved to be operated. Roberts, made four correct. Roberts made four spades despite the fact that he could have slipped up on the queen of clubs, and when the jack was led, Roberts trumped with the nine of spades. If he had trumped with the deuce, he

Roberts another club ruff, nor did he want to lead into any tenace position, so he exited with the eight of spades, which Roberts won with the jack. Now you can see how valuable the deuce of spades was. Roberts To make the contract, both the heart and diamond finesse had to work, but which one should he take first? The correct play, and the one he selected, was to lead the queen of hearts. West properly refused to cover, and now of course
