Two Centennial exhibitions of Wisconsin art will be presented in Madison by the Madison Art assn. during the 1948-49 season, Pres. Rudolph E. Langer announced today in a letter to members of the organization.

First event on the calendar will be a tea and reception for Aaron Bohrod, new artist-in-residence at the University of Wisconsin, and Mrs. Bohrod. The association will exhibit some of his works in connection with the reception.

The association plans other exhibitions during the year, and is considering a proposal for sponsoring classes in drawing and painting, limited to its members. These would be conducted at the University under the direction of members of the art faculty.

Reviewing last season, Langer pointed out that the association had "embarked upon a program of monthly art exhibitions at the city library" and had presented lectures by Prof. Philo M. Buck, Jr., of the University of Wisconsin and Prof. Wayne Claxton of Wayne University, Detroit.

"The association now has 361 members," Langer said.

"Of course," he added, "there are many more people than that in Madison who are interested in art," and he asked members to try to interest others in membership. "The bigger our membership is, the more we can hope to do."

Jack Carson's sponsor and his movie studio are in a huddle over plans for Jack to take his radio show on the road this Fall and make personal appearances to coincide with his pictures' releases.

A new show may be built around the new Wood, vocalist on Ray Noble's summer series. "The Life of Riley," a movie based to the NBC show, will go before the cameras next month with William Bendix starring Tommy Cook, who plays "Junior" on the air, has enrolled at UCLA.

New York hears that Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and daughter Anna will get over $3,000 weekly for their forthcoming ABC series.

"Blondie," the radio version of The State Journal comic strip will move to NBC on Oct. 6. ABC has signed Kay Kypar for daytime audience participation show to start Oct. 4, the Billboard reports.

Crosby Back From Vacation; Looks for a Leading Lady

HOLLYWOOD—Bing Crosby, with his Dixie and the kids are due back in Hollywood this week from the wilds of Nevada and Utah where they've been fishing and hunting—and right away Crosby will start looking at leading-lady prospects for his next picture, "Diamonds in the Haystack."

At this point, Ann Blythe is the "dark horse" and she's been making tests like m.d. Whoever gets the role with Bing will have to play it speaking one of the thickest Irish brogues on record.

Danny Kaye is toying with the idea of doing "Nature Boy" as his next picture. Meanwhile Eden A. Be, whose lovely song was "over-done to" (temporarily, we're sure!) death and a million gags, is touring the countryside in cowboy outfits and a big yellow car! What a few shekels will do!

People will also bet you that Alfred Hitchcock's "Rope" is censor-bait and that it will be a surprise if church groups don't pick on it.

When Greer Garson rides that elephant at the big Ringling Bros. circus for the benefit of St. Johns hospital here Saturday night, she'll be wearing black velvet costume tights, with hip-length black silk hose especially designed for her by Irene.

Universal has a trailer out for "One Touch of Venus" which features Ava Gardner and wolf whistles. The audience is invited to add its own whistles. Cute idea!

Cornel Wilde and Patricia Knight are sunning at Toyon Bay, prior to taking off for New York and a European vacation spree.

Bill Bendis has sold his house to Marie McDonald and is looking for a new one—anywhere but Beverly Hills. Hm, hm—sounds sorta snobbish!

The Bob Carrolls (he's the singer) are divorcing. But Ermadean Walters, the Fox starlet, and Bob Cutting are delaying their rifting to try again for another year.

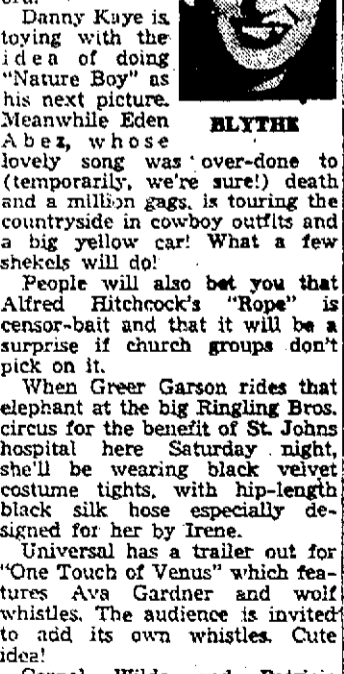

There's talk that Metro will make a musical version of "Tortilla Flat" with Cyd Charisse (Tony Martin's beautiful bride) and Ricard Montalban.

Well, guess who is going to be the male singer on Bob Hope's radio show when he returns to the air next month? None other than young Bill Fiorelli, who until recently was a pin-boy in a Cleveland bowling alley!

Thus the crooner from Bob's home town gets the break of a lifetime... Reminds us that Vera Vague, who no longer will be a part of the Hope shows, has started the first of those pictures we told you she'd make at Columbia. It's called "Love on an Iceberg"—and in this weather, she couldn't have picked a likelier subject.

Now that "Penny Serenade," which Cary Grant made with Irene Dunne a few years ago, is being re-issued, you'll have a chance to see that great courtroom scene of his—the one that should have gotten him an academy award at the time. Though we defy any actor anywhere to match that heart-breaking scene of Cary's for artistry and sincerity, Betty Garrett bopped Mack Graw over the head so hard for
