We are liking or disliking a lot of people all the time. You are living in a fool's paradise if you think no one dislike you. You should accept this fact as some rected before you. thing you can do little about. Answer to Question No. 3

Yes. The Thurstone measurement of attitudes toward communism, patriotism, law and censureship was given to 587 college students. Students whose fathers were members of the American Legion, labor unions, lodges, etc., were more liberal than those whose mothers be-longed to the Legion Auxiliary, lodges, the D. A. By Jay Alan MCKENNY ON BRIDGE

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY THE new code of bridge laws, which will be put into effect Oct. 1, will be known as the international code and undoubtthe world. As I told you in yes-edly will be adopted throughout terday's article, there are no scoring changes and none of the changes will affect party bridge. Below, in question and answer form, I am giving some of the important technical changes in the new laws:

Q. What is the penalty for exposing a jack or higher, while the bidding is in progress? A. The partner of the offender is barred from the bidding for one round only. Declarer no longer has the option of calling the opening lead.

Q. If the player shead of me bids four spades, and I bid two diamonds because I misunderstood and thought that he bid only one spade, what happens under the new laws?

A. You have made an insufficient bid. If you correct it to five diamonds, which would be the lowest sufficient bid in the same suit, there is no further penalty. However, you may stitute a pass for your insuffi-cient bid. If you do, you are subject to two penalties. First, your partner is barred from further participation in the bid-ding on the hand. Second, if your side becomes the defenders, declarer may require or prohibit the opening lead of a specified suit.

Q. If I am dummy, am I allowed to lell my partner if he is about to lead from the wrong

A. Under the old rules you could not do so, but under the new rules you may warn your partner that he is about to lead from the wrong hand without penalty.

Q. If the wrong defender makes the opening lead, can the declarer require the proper opening leader to lead any suit? A. That was true under the old laws, but under the new-laws the erroneous lead may be treated as a penalty card, which means that it must be played at the first opportunity except. of course, that you must follow suit if you can. Under the new laws, declarer cannot call for the lead of a particular suit by the correct leader, but he may for-bid the lead of the suit incorrectly led.

Q. Does the "revoke" law A. The penalty for a revoke is still two tricks, but the law has been softened. There is now no peen sortened. There is now no penalty if the revoke is corrected before you or your partner plays to the following trick. Of course, the defender's exposed revoke card becomes a penalty card.
