Moscow's latest is that Russia also invented the apple---a palpa-ble absurdity, as no nation puts up with weak vodka if there are apples available, and laws of fermentation.

A "campaign director" for the Wallace party is dispatched from New York City to the plains of Nebraska. It will be explained to the new boy, of course, that the windmill isn't an electric fan the windm for cows.

A. There are now 58 flags in the circle in front of the U. N. headquarters.

Q. Was a silver bullet used by British spies to transmit infor-mation during the Revolutionary War? C. V. R. A. The "silver bullet" was a hollow case of silver, made so that it could be taken apart, in which a dispatch on very thin paper could be concealed. The messenger was instructed to swallow the bullet if captured. The last message that it carried The last message that it carried was one from Sir Henry Clinton, British commander in New York, to General Burgoyne, Both bullet and message are included among the numerous Revolu-tionary War relics of the museum of Fort Ticonderoga, N. Y. Q. How do radio stations receive their news reports? D. D. A. News reports are received by radio stations from the press associations over both the gen-eral news wires and special radio news wires. The full cov-erage reports over the general news wires are usually edited by commentators.

"Do my opinions necessarily have to be those of the 'little man'?" I get plenty of that at home and at the office!"

Let's Explore Your Mind

Answer to Question No. 1 There is no "yes" or "no" answer, although the answer would lean towards "no". It is harder for a woman than for a man to be a boss, because she is man to be a boss, because she is treated as a woman by both men and women workers and by her superiors. To be a good boss over women, a woman must lead a double life-be sympathetic and yet not be sociable. If she does this she will lose her hold. Answer to Question No. 2

Answer to Question No. 2 No, because you cannot attend to two things at once with equal intensity. Hardly anything ex-cites the taste as do salted pca-nuts. Yet I have tried eating them while an express train was passing and while listoning to a them while an express train was at the end she simply conceded passing and while listening to a symphony. I can scarcely taste them at all. Numerous experi-ments have been made on stu-dents trying to study while a jazz band was in action. Mental output is lowered decidedly.

Answer to Question No. 3 In a fine, little, non-profit book that tells what parents and teachers should know about children's eyes, "Why We See Like Human Beings," by the N. Y. Better Vision Institute, the authors say animals could never be taught to read because man is the only animal who has the tiny "yellow spot" on the retina which enables him to see clearly

ON BRIDGE By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY

MRS. HELEN SOBEL of New York City lived up to her rating as the outstanding woman bridge player of th. world when she again came through to win a championship at the national tournament held in Chicago. She and her teammates, Mrs. Margaret Wagar, Atlanta, Ga.; Charles H. Goren and John R. Crawford, Philadelphia, won the masters mixed team-of-four title.

One might think that in kibitzing Mrs. Sobel it would be quite fancy plays, but that is not so. She does not rely on the spec-tacular. Precision and care are There does not appear to be anything startling in today's hand. But Mrs. Sobel knew that to win the match she should make six-odd, especially if North held the ace of hearts and king of diamonds, and she proceeded to play on that assumption. She won the opening lead of the three of hearts in cummy with the queen, cashed the king and queen of spades and overtook the jack of spades with her acc. Then she immediately played a heart. If North had gone up with the acc, Mrs. Sobel would have had 12 cold tricks. But North made it as difficult as possible by playing low. Mrs. Sobel won in dummy with the king, cashed the king of clubs and led a low club to her ace. Two more rounds of spades were led, and North, who had discarded a small diamond on the third spade, now let go the four and eight of diamonds, blanking down to the king.

Mrs. Sobel guessed the situa-tion and played her ace of diamonds, dropping the king, and at the end she simply conceded
