Those producers at 20th-Fox and Metro who play baseball at LINKLETTER each other once a week sure believe in "living dangerously." The fact that there isn't a man on the teams under 40 is a mere detail. Last game, Ben Lyon got conked on the head with a ball and knocked out. And Dore Schary got himself a charley-horse and fainted dead away!

R.K.O. has just given Lawrence Tierney the gate—by dropping him from contract, This should surprise nobody. But his brother, Scott Brady, who scored such a play. Or you can just tune in. The class meets Monday and Wednesday, Buck gives the background and philosophy behind the plays, and Friday comes the supposed "mystery" surrounding the visit of Ali Khan to Rita Hayworth this past week—IF a visit there was. Now, Ali is a very flashy fellow. He never has less than four or five of the fastest, loudest cars with him in whatever burg he happens to be; he's usually surrounded with a large en clouwage and lots of dolls—and makes about 11 night clubs per might. The gent is NOT bent on secrecy. He wouldn't be passing up the chance to get his picture in the papers with Darryl Zan uck, Jack Warner, or any such friends—if he were here—because he just loooves publicity! We'd make a big, fat bet that Ali Khan has not yet set foot in Hollywood, and that the whole thing was a publicity stunt cooked up to add to Rita's allure.
