

Today's Smile By Dick Turner

"Bring up a chair, Pet! There's a swell movie at one of the drive-in theaters in Junction City!"

Question's, Answers Modest Maidens By Jay Alan

Old Sol Is Outshone by Dorado Star

By HASKIN

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing the Long Beach Press-Telegram, Information Bureau, 134 Eye St., N. E., Washington 2, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for return postage.

Q. How much brighter than the sun is the brightest known star? F. R. D. A. The brightest of all known stars is between 300,000 and 500,000 times as bright as the sun. This star is S Doradus, a variable star in the southern constellation of Dorado. It has an absolute magnitude of -8.9.

Q. Are the majority of snakes of the world harmful to man? D. G. Z. A. Of all the known kinds of snakes less than 8 per cent are harmful to man, but of this small number some are very dangerous.

Q. In what city was a baseball game finished after the spectators had left the park, thinking the game was over? J. S. P. A. This happened at a night game in Spartanburg, S. C., on July 11, 1947, during a game between Spartanburg and Knoxville. A prankster switched off the lights at the ninth inning and the fans, assuming that the game was over, left the park. Later, the game was finished.

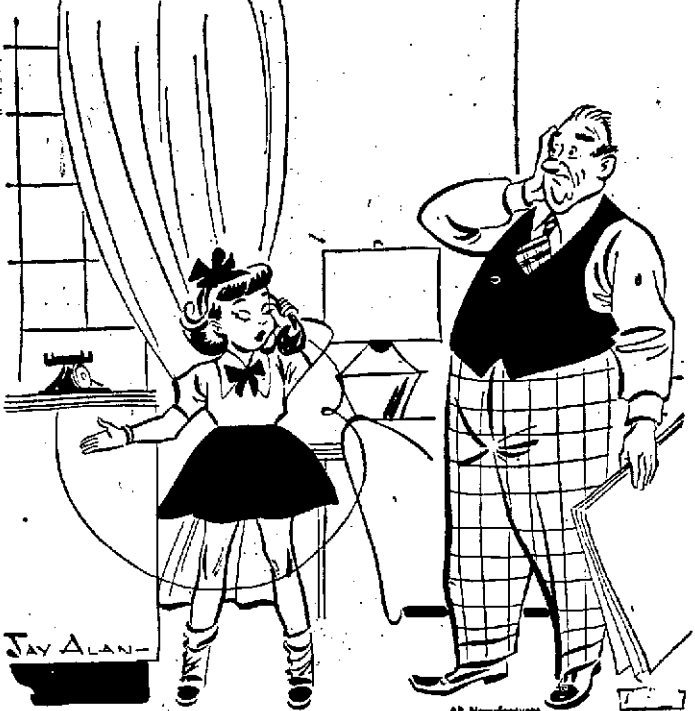

Q. For whom is the McClellan saddle named? R. B. A. It is named for Gen. George B. McClellan who presented his saddle to the U. S. Army in 1852. This saddle was adopted by the War Department in 1859.

Q. How does altitude affect blood pressure? F. E. S. A. The U. S. Public Health Service says that variations in altitude have no effect upon the blood pressure itself. Sufficiently high altitudes, for example 16,000 feet where there is a deficiency of oxygen, induce fainting through lack of adequate oxydation of the tissues of the body.

Q. Will a man be accepted for enlistment in the armed forces after he has received his notice to report for a pre-induction examination under Selective Service? T. R. E. A. Inductees under the 1948 Selective Service Act cannot voluntarily enlist in the armed forces after receiving a notice to report for pre-induction examination.

Q. For what memorial did the motion picture star "Bill" Hart pose? L. R. S. A. William S. Hart and his horse posed for the "Range Rider of the Yellowstone," a symbolical monument by Charles Christodoro at Billings, Mont.

Q. Where is the greatest honey-producing center in the United States? H. O. R. S. Uvalde, Texas, is said to be the greatest honey-producing center in the United States and in the world. The town also reputedly has the largest pecan orchard.

"Well, I think life is very interesting if you make mistakes—and very dull if you don't."

BILLY ROSE'S DILEMMA

He Seeks Advice About Right Book to Give Boy

Mr. Tom Girdler, Chairman, Republic Steel Corp., Cleveland, Ohio. Dear Mr. G.:

A few years back, Readers Digest ran a story of an old Chinese garden and the inscription on a plaque set in one of its walls—"ENJOY YOURSELF—LATER THAN YOU THINK." And, as you probably remember, this little piece darn near disrupted our national economy—for months after it appeared, scared executives were pricing one-way tickets to Tahiti.

Today I received an 8-by-11 chunk of mimeographing that's even more frightening than the Digest article. It came in an envelope postmarked "San Francisco" and was sent by Louis Lurie, a real estate man who is reputed to be worth several dozen million dollars.

Without further fulminations, and with Mr. Lurie's permission, here's the tract in full.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT In 1923, a group of the world's most successful financiers met at the Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago. Present were:

The president of the largest independent steel company; The president of the largest utility company.

The greatest wheat speculator.

The president of the New York Stock Exchange.

A member of the President's cabinet.

The greatest "bear" in Wall Street.

The president of the Bank of International Settlements.

The head of the world's greatest monopoly.

Collectively, these tycoons controlled more wealth than there was in the United States Treasury, and for years newspapers and magazines had been printing their success stories and urging the youth of the nation to follow their examples.

Let's Explore Your Mind Sen. Soaper Says:

By DR. A. E. WIGGAM

1. IS IT HARDER FOR THE YOUNGER AND OLDER GENERATIONS TO UNDERSTAND EACH OTHER NOW THAN IN FORMER TIMES? YES NO

2. IS THE FATHER BECOMING MORE OR LESS IMPORTANT IN THE FAMILY NOW THAN FORMERLY? MORE LESS

3. DO HOSTS OF STUDENTS GO THROUGH HIGH SCHOOL AND COLLEGE AND YET FAIL TO REALIZE WHAT EDUCATION REALLY IS? YES NO

Answer to Question No. 1 Yes, because the world has changed more in the past 50 years than in the previous 500. The automobile doesn't startle youngsters because they can't remember when we didn't have them. Many of us can. Divorce was almost unheard of in our younger days—now you don't hear much else. Us oldsters have lived in two worlds, the youngsters in only one. So I think we understand them better than they understand us.

Answer to Question No. 2 Less. Under today's conditions in all cities dad leaves early in the morning and returns only at dinner time. By then he feels he has earned a rest. So he wants his pipe, his chair and his newspaper. He resents hearing details about the housework and children. Consequently nearly all the discipline and rearing of children falls on the mother. Many husbands travel for a living. His children often wonder who that man is who comes home occasionally and kisses mother. Many children in good homes grow up almost without knowing father, nor he them.

Answer to Question No. 3 Yes. They think becoming "educated" means getting a certain number of "credits." Educator Dr. W. S. Learned says this makes education a gambling game instead of "the intelligent mastery of ideas that fit one another," into a body of usable knowledge. Many colleges, he says require "two units of algebra" for entrances which too often means a student has merely sat through two years of algebra and managed

RADIO PROGRAMS

As listings here are supplied by radio stations, responsibility for inaccuracies rests solely on them.

TODAY AND TONIGHT

Table of radio programs for today and tonight, listing station call letters, times, and program titles.

PROGRAMS TOMORROW

Table of radio programs for tomorrow, listing station call letters, times, and program titles.

DIAL-LITES

Table of radio programs for today and tonight, listing station call letters, times, and program titles.

PROGRAMS TOMORROW

Table of radio programs for tomorrow, listing station call letters, times, and program titles.

MOPSY

By Gladys Parker

JUST HOW LARGE AN APARTMENT DO YOU WANT, MISS?

Advertisement for KGER For Western Music, listing programs and contact information.

Large advertisement for TIC-TOC stores, featuring various food products like Golden Swan Pears, Del Monte Boysenberries, and Par Granulated Soap, along with a radio performance announcement.