REHEARSAL: The first broad-cast rehearsal of the Boston Sym-phony orchestra will be aired by WIBA at 10:30 tonight. The pro-gram was carried on the NBC network Monday noon and tran-scribed for Madison area listen-

This is the first time that a major symphony organization and a radio network have joined in broadcasting rehearsals. Dr. Serge Koussevitzky's rehearsals have always been held behind closed doors, but in this, his 25th anniversary and final year as conductor of the Boston Symphony orchestra, he has agreed to open the rehearsals to a nationwide radio audience.

The program marks a new association of the National Broadcasting Co. and the Boston Symphony, which also will extend to broadcasts from the Berkshire festival at Tanglewood, Mass., next summer. Broadcasts of the will repeat his nostalgic "An Old-Fashi on e d Thanksgiving" on ABC-WISC at 2:45 p. m. Other stations will have special programs, and many regular shows will include holiday features.
