Yes, Dr. Grace Fernald has been making practically perfect spellers for 30 years. She says the methods used in many schools produce poor spellers.
These schools have children, spell from dictation or else copy words. By dictation the fast children, or those with good hearing, get ahead, leaving the others behind. In copying words the child looks back and forth and does not get a leavent picthe child looks back and forth and does not get a clear-cut pic-

"As a matter of fact, I did get a notion," said Morrissey.
"I suggested to the chief that he pick out six of the most likely gals in his tribe and send them to one of the better cooking schools in New York."

"I get it," I said. "A Morrissey version of 'Home on the Range'."

"Open discussion will be held after the lecture," said the showman. "To continue, the chief and I looked under Cook-chief and I looked under 'Cooking Schools' in the Classified Directory and settled on the Ecole Culiniere, run by a Madame Voiselle in the East 60's."

"Interesting story," I heckled, "but it necus a little action."

"The action came a couple of months later," said Morrissey "when a fattish female
