New State's Attorney Flunks Examination

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (U.P.)—Illinois is wondering what to do with a newly-elected state's attorney who flunked his bar examination.
Philip Benefiel, a 25-year-old veteran who was graduated last spring, was elected state's attorney of Lawrence county.
The state law examiners said, however, that Benefiel failed to pass his examination.
The state constitution does not require a state's attorney to be a licensed lawyer.
State law, however, prohibits anyone but a qualified attorney from taking part in court actions.
Despite the confusion, Benefiel went right ahead with plans to take office.
He said he "guessed" that campaigning took time away from his studies for the bar examination.

Dumb Blondes Evidently Greatly in Demand

SALT LAKE CITY (U.P.)—A hotel switchboard operator here (a brunette) didn't know what to do with a deluge of calls for one of the guests.
Jobs were being offered in answer to a want ad in a local paper. The hotel's phone number given in the advertisement was signed: "A Dumb Blonde."
Whoever placed the advertisement had forgotten to give her room number and inform the hotel of her identity.

Planning GI Training in 1949? See VA Now

Madison area veterans who plan to attend college or start training under the GI Bill of Rights in 1949 were urged to apply for eligibility certificates at once, the Madison VA office said today.
Postponing application for eligibility certificates and other papers can delay entry into school or payment of subsistence allowances, E. M. Sturheim, Madison VA office said.
And veterans now holding eligibility certificates issued before Sept. 1 should exchange them for new ones, the office announced.
Veterans planning to enroll with old certificates must wait until entitlement to training is verified before subsistence allowance and tuition can be paid, the office warned.

Mayor Convinces Town He's Really an Artist

MONTGOMERY, Pa. (U.P.)—The way Oliver J. Housel reasons, it's better late than never, even in oil painting.
Housel, mayor of Montgomery, is 72 years old. He didn't start to paint until recently.
A friendly intra-family challenge started Housel painting. He Teasing Her Art-Student Daughter About Her Work, One Day, Remarkably That Even He Could Do as Well if Not Better. She Invited Him to Try.

Housel timidly began to paint his first picture. From that shaky beginning, he has advanced well enough to draw the praise of almost the whole town of Montgomery.
