Hollywood

By Edith Gwynn

Understand the Michael Curtiz production unit at Warner's ceased to exist a few days ago. James Mitchell, who was a 1924 rave for his dancing in "Brigadoon" on Broadway, and brought here by Curtiz, has gone east after playing one bit—as a gangster in one of those B epics!... No wonder Ed Gardner thinks that production curtailment has gone so far that most Hollywoodites spent New Year's eve just standing around fooling pickpockets!

Incidental intelligence: People will be going to church more in 1949 than in 1948.

House will include an adaptation of "The Nutcracker Suite." The orchestra will consist of Mrs. Margaret Rupp Cooper, harp; Bettie Barenbaum, piano and celeste; Janet Easum and Ann Seibold, flute, and Walter Stebbins, clarinet. The last three are West high school pupils.
