Tale of Cross-eyed Cats or the Lizards' Revenge

By HAL BOYLE

Q. What is the meaning of FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (P) Florida is the problem of cross-the name Solomon? H. McD. Florida has an unsuual anieyed house cats. And what eyed house cats. And what makes them cross-eyed? Lizards Florida has an unsuual ani-I don't mean the wild wolves do. And thereby hangs a tale: in Cuban shirts who prowl and howl along the sandy precincts of the Gold Coast, nor do I refer to the docile tourist sheep, bleating at $25-a-day hotel bills.

A stranger animal problem in House cats, like everything else, do well under the Florida sun. They like the climate, the soft leisurely life. And they like lizand the like lizand they like lizard-tail lunches.

Lizards, who were here long before house cats or Ponce de Leon, like Florida's sun, too. They like the climate, and they don't have any personal dislike for cats. But they don't look with favor on one had habit that some dumb cats have. That is the habit of chasing and biting off their tails.

Wise cats stretch themselves on the warm grass and let the lizards do likewise, unmolested, but dumb cats—well, they stalk a lizard and pounce on him. Usually, the lizard's long tail comes off in their jaws-and the reptile scuttles off into the shrubbery, muttering some-thing about "Damyankees." And if the cat is particularly dumb, what does he do? Why he sits down and eats the lizard's tail. But eating lizard tails is pretty much like eating mushrooms and toadstools. There's a whale of a difference in them. If it's one kind of lizard's tail, nothing happens. But if it is the wrong kind of lizard's tall, the tale of what follows has this ending:

The cat becomes cross-eyed. He wobbles around the yard like a drunken sailor on a shifting deck. He loses his sense of direction. It is a real cat-astrophe for him.

"Veterinarians don't seem to know just how to cure a cat in this condition," said Mrs. Polly Dickey. Her own cat was in this cross-eyed, confused state for months after eating a lizard tail.

"One experience is supposed to teach a cat never to stalk lizards again," she said. "But my pet ate two lizard tails, "The first one was in June. He was cross-eyed until he

One lady whose cat came down with lizard tall indigestion paid $150 in fruitless trips to a veterinarian.

"There appears to be a poison in the lizard that affects a cat's sense of balance," said another woman. "When I held my hand over my pet's crossed eyes, it calmed down and could stand all right. But if I took my hand away and called him, he wobbled off in another direction."

What can be done about it?
Well, one way would be either to teach cats more tolerance—or give them some kind of lessons in lizard identification.

Certainly sand fleas and liz-ards are going to be here as long as Florida is. There would be plenty of lizards left if all be plenty of lizards left if all the cats in Kilkenny came here and ate themselves cross-eyed.
