Dublin Quiet in Respect for St. Pat DUBLIN_(U.E)_All bars were shuttered Thursday in respect for St. Patrick. Unlike their brethren overseas, Irishmen celebrated the day with ties of Northern Ireland would be joined with Eire's 26 counties in a united Irish republic. Foreign Minister Sean Mac-Bride offered a prayer in Dublin that by then the entire island will be "one united nation." In Londonderry, Northern Ireland, Irish nationalists defied a government band and strong police forces to hold a 30-minute rally protesting partition of Ireland.

UW Examinations Even Scare Pigeons

Six-weeks exams frighten pigeons, too. Thursday morning was a warm surny day and some-one opened a window in 407

South hall. A plump blue and gray pigeon flew in.

The pigeon (ried to find his way out again but only banged against the walls and deceiving windows. So the confused bird made the best of it and perched on a water pipe.

"Listen here, fella," a student said. "Are you sure you want to stay in here? There is going to be a six-weeks exam here the next hour." The pigeon cooed, flapped his wings, and flew straight back out the open window.
