A. There are varying esti-mates of the value of the "thirty pieces of silver" paid to Judas for the betrayal of Christ. According to some Bible students they were shekels of silver, each equal to about 60 cents. The Westminster Bible Dictionary estimates the amount as $19.50, an ordinary price for a slave.

Q. Does the electrocution of a criminal cause the electric lights in houses near-by to dim? C. K. A. There is no truth to the superstition that an electrocu-tion consumes enough power to cause lights to dim. For years this question has been asked in connection with electrocutions at Sing Sing Prison, Ossining, N. Y. ### UNWELCOME OUTCOME

Possibility of Creating German Martyr Foreseen

NEW YORK. UP The U.S. Senate controversy around the Malmedy massacre trials will produce one unwelcome outcome it will create a new postwar German military hero.

He is Col. Joachim Peiper, a handsome young former adjutant to SS Chief Heinrich Himm-

This tough minded storm trooper, now under sentence of death, is a symbol to many heroloving Germans of the war they loving Germans of the war they lost. And from the Allied point of view, he is a dangerous man for this reason: He isn't the type the German people should ever come to regard as a martyr. A Senate subcommittee is now investigating the Army's prose-investigating the Army's prose-cution of Col. Peiper and 72 oth-er German soldiers. They were accused of murdering 750 Amer-ican prisoners and 150 Belgian civilians in the wintry Battle of the Bulge in 1944.

The American Army's quest for justice in this situation has been as confused as was the Battle of the Bulge itself. But unlike the battle, it has had no decisive impact for good on the German mind.

The original trial was held in the Nazi concentration camp at Dachau, hardly a scene re-nowned for justice.

Of the 73 defendants 43 were given death sentences. But since then there have been two official investigations of the trial. One was military, one was by a civilian commission. And in a final review of the matter Gen. Lucius D. Clay reduced the or Russian—have no means to care for prisoners if the battle is bitter. The decision then must death sentences to six. Of the other 67 originally convicted, 20 are under life sentence, 34 serving short prison terms and 13 have been freed.

And now a Senate subcommittee is beening testingony, that prisoners or to let them go, knowing the men then would be free to warn the enemy ahead. Often in commando-type raids

Even among some professional American officers there is a rejuctant admiration for the soldierly ability of Col. Peiper, the regimental commander whose men lined up and shot to death 80 disarmed Americans in snowy field outside Malmedy. Whether this was a "massacre" or a military necessity is of some doubt, too, to professional soldiers. For armored columns in a break-through attack-be
