Answer to Question No. 2
Yes, A recent article in "Time,"
"Eat Hearty," indicated 52 per cent of the earth's land could be made productive (of £00d) "if there were any reason for doing so." As the Population Reference Bureau asks, (paraphrased), "what better reason for making the earth productive than that two-thirds of the world's people go hungry?" Only 12 per cent of the earth's land is productive now, by man's utmost efforts. Science can aid, but not enough to feed the 20.000,000 born annually. To achieve world peace, we must develop a new psychology about population and food supply, as well as economic and political machinery for production and distribution.

Answer to Question No. 3 people.

It is perhaps completely normal that at 31 they should be most interested in their personal business or professional success. But why, at 33, are they most worried over job security? Why are these two years so critical?

Why are these two years so critical?

Well, they jog on to 38 and are doleful over their health. They hit 41 and more over their political convictions. At 42 they have finally decided whether to vote Democratic or Republican—or go all out for Henry Wallace—and it is marital difficulties that plague them most. And at 45 life has cut them down to their last two big worries. This is the year they pine over giving up their unfulfilled ambitions and turn again to their health. For the rest of their days nothing frustrates them more than how their ulcers are faring.

This worry table is rather distillusioning. It shows these fearlisungle find no tigers therein that the average bank clerk or bus driver doesn't meet and grapple with. It makes psychologists so dull and ordinary. What year do they worry most about the white nice? And who worries most—mice or psychologists?

girls, ages 13 to 15, divided into two equal groups—the "Control Group" and the "Discouraged Group." All were praised and encouraged. Two weeks later another form of the same test was given to the "Control Group" with the usual praise, but to the "Discouraged Group" with discouraging remarks. The Discouraged Group scored 6.35 IQ points lower than on their previous test. This was due ap-

Ears Miss High Pitch of Sounds By HASKIN

Q. Is it true that there are many sounds which human ears cannot hear? C. J. M.

A. It has been demonstrated that there are many sounds in nature that we cannot, hear directly because of their high pitch. Many insects produce sounds beyond our hearing range.

Q. How long is the Great Wall of China and when was it built? R. J. M.

A. The wall stretches more A. The wall stretches more than 1500 miles along the border between Mongolia and China proper. To the Chinese it is known as the Wall of Ten Thousand Li (Li is a Chinese measure of distance). The building of the original Great Wall started in the late 200's B. C. and the present structure was completed in the A. D. 1300's. The sides are made of bricks and blocks of granite; the top, paved with bricks set in lime, forms a kind of roadway.

And, particularly, I am worried about the stage of life at which they worry over different things.

For days and days I have been mulling over a worry timestable presented recently at the Midwestern Psychological Association meeting in Chicago. It was a composite picture of what 103 elderly psychologists had worried most about at different ages. It left a lot of questions unanswered in my mind. And it also has left me mind aboratoriely allowed to learn from the mice great lessons to help mankind the psychologists are caught in the mind.
