Toy Helps Devise New Patterns

By HASKIN

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Press-Telegram Information Bureau, 218 E. 7th St., Long Beach, Cal. 90802. Send your question, three (3) cents for return postage.

Q. WHAT IS a kaleidoscope used for? G. N. D.

A. The kaleidoscope is a toy but it often helps designers to find new patterns for carpets, wallpaper and various fabrics.

Q. What is the best time to cut horseradish? G. M.

A. Because horseradish makes its greatest growth during late summer and early fall, harvesting is usually delayed until October or November, when the greatest strength has entered the roots.

Q. What kind of paper was used to print the Gutenberg Bible? D. N. T.

A. Gutenberg used a fine grade of rag paper, and it is a remarkable fact that this paper has retained its strength and whiteness for nearly 500 years.

Q. Is there such a thing as a black orchid in nature? M. J. D.

A. Authorities state that there is no black orchid. As a result of experiments by private growers in the United States a dark purple flower has been developed by crossing different colors and varieties. It is so dull and dark as to be called black although in reality it is not. The dark orchid is not grown commercially. The white orchid may be dyed black very successfully when demand requires it.

Woman Enters Man's Field of Business, Makes Good

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK. CP Mildred Gainey laughs when she hears members of her sex complain about prejudice against women in industry.

The complaints amuse her. Because in two years, starting from nothing, she has built up a $250,000 business. And she did it in a man's field—the construction industry.

"Being a woman was far from a handicap," she said. "It has been a positive help."

She founded her business—Gainey's Construction Newsletter—at the age of 47. Today, headquartered in Boston, she distributes to more than 1000 customers a 30 to 40-page daily bulletin on building activities throughout New England.

"We serve as a kind of information center for the construction industry," she said. "So far as she knows, she is the only woman editor of a construction publication in this country."

"Some people say it's an odd field for a woman to be in," she said. "But I don't feel that way. I feel at home in it."

She has been in the field for 31 years. After graduating from high school, she went to work in the office of the Boston publication, specializing in regional industry news. When it was sold in 1945 to a nationwide firm, Miss Gainey—in private

WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING

IF YOU TELL most people of the world that the United States wants world government they will get scared. They will think the movement bears the dollar bill in one hand and the atom bomb in the other.

Garry Davis, who renounced U. S. citizenship to become self-styled "citizen of the world."

A WORK STOPPAGE at any one point in the atomic energy program would be devastating to national defense. The closing down of a single atomic plant might result in a great disaster for our nation.

—Sen. Forrest Donnell (R.) of Missouri.

I DO NOT recall ever having witnessed a more deliberate campaign of misrepresentation and distortion against legislation of such crucial importance to the public welfare.

—President Truman, referring to recent lobby opposition to the public housing bill.

THAT THE Soviet Union makes frightful blunders and aggressions and commits stupidities almost more than the human intelligence can bear, should not excuse the stupidities we make ourselves.

—John Gunther, in "Behind the Iron Curtain."

Life Mrs. James William Reardon decided it was time to retire. "But I quickly became bored," she said. "I had too much time on my hands. I didn't know what to do with myself. And old customers of the firm I worked for kept phoning and urging me to go into business for myself. So I decided to try."

She began in April, 1947, with a phone, a mimeograph machine, a typewriter and an office cubicle.

"I wasn't worried about competing with big business," she said. "I figured my service would sell wider if it were cheaper, so I cut the cost of my newsletter to about one-third the price charged by my competitor. And from the start I concentrated on giving my customers personalized service."

Now she has an office staff of 35 full-time employees and 75 correspondents scattered across the New England states. They keep a day-to-day check on the progress of the region's $2,000,000 backlog of building projects.

Her newsletter tells plumbers where there is potential work in their area. Architects, contractors, subcontractors, office equipment firms, railroads, furniture dealers, insurance companies—all get customer tips from her bulletins.

A long acquaintance with hundreds of persons in the construction field is one of Miss Gainey's chief advantages.

"Whenever we know of a specific project anyone is interested in, we give him a personal call," she said. "As soon as bids are asked on a building project, she gets the plans and specifications and keeps them on file in her office. Subscribers who want to bid can come there and check them at their leisure."

Miss Gainey, whose business is increasing steadily, is optimistic about the future.

"There is a boom ahead in public building and highway construction," she said.

A pleasant, blue-eyed woman of 49, Miss Gainey still does all her own housework—and likes it.

What is the biggest asset of women in industry?

"Friendliness," she said. "That will overcome any handicap."

Answer to Question No. 1

Yes. Sociologists Locke and Klausner compared the happiness of a group of married women married only once with a group remarried after divorce. The scientists used the Burgess-Cottrell Married Happiness Test. Slightly more of the divorcees scored "happy" and "very happy" than did the married women. This agrees with a previous study by Dr. Locke and indicates divorcees are as good a marriage risk as women in general. Our booklet, "Your Success in Marriage," with above test sent at cost, 15c in coin only plus self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Answer to Question No. 2

Yes, if they become competent psychiatrists. This requires at least 2 years intensive study of both normal and abnormal psychology. In addition to a medical degree. Not all "psychiatrists" have this essential training although many have far more. With 1 person in 20 some time in a mental hospital, about 1 in 10 in a psychologist's or psychiatrist's office and probably 1 in 5 in need of mental hygiene, we need mental as badly as body doctors. Perhaps everybody follow Sam Goldwyn's advice, "Any body who goes to a psychiatrist should have his head examined." That's why he goes!

Answer to Question No. 3

Not often. Math. Prof. W. C. Krathwohl compared the high school math aptitude and math achievements of 1358 freshmen entering the Illinois Institute of Technology with their work habits and achievements in freshman college algebra. If high school achievement scores had been above their aptitude scores, they would have been called "indolent." If below, "normal." The industrious remained industrious, the "normal," normal and with rare exceptions the indolent continued on their happy lazy way.

INTERESTING CONVERSATION

To be a conversationalist is to be a sought for partner in any gathering. Many advantages will be yours. For the benefit of readers, Dr. Wiggam offers a remarkable booklet, "The Art of Conversation." This interesting and instructive booklet contains 12 great chapters brimming with examples and a practical conversationalist. Become one yourself. Includes ten tests of conversational ability with complete information for the test. Is yours for 15 cents in coin—less than actual cost. To get your copy address Dr. Wiggam, care of this newspaper. Includes a stamped (self-addressed) return envelope. The supply is limited.

EMINENCE

EMINENCE is a hazardous thing in this world; as history tells us on nearly every page. Rome once was more powerful comparatively than even the United States is today. A sober consideration of the past suggests the wisdom of more humility and less pride today.—Sacramento Bee.
