Alabama Terror Probers to Check Their Own Ranks

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 16. A grand jury investigating hooded terrorists has asked for a lose check of its own members after learning that one juror is a former Ku Klux Klanaman.

The jury asked that each member be examined for possible disqualification. The request was made to Circuit Judge George Lewis Bailes, who told the grar 1 jury that a former Klansman was jury that a former Klansman was among the jurors.

Judges Bailes said the juror, Alexander Brewis of Gardendale, Ala., has been excused from considering any case which might affect the Klan.

Brewis declined to discuss whether he is a member of the Klan with newsmen. "I just don't want to talk about it," he said.

Judge Bailes charged the jury Monday to look into "this business of night riders taking people out... and whipping them."

Hooded riders have been active in the Birmingham area recently.

The judge did not mention the Klan, by name, but a top-ranking
