Each was in a wheel chair.
The 13 stars of the world's first wheel chair revue, "It's Fun on Wheels" were patients at Birmingham Veterans' Hospital. While the cast was stiting down, the audience of patients and guests was standing up—those that could—to cheer.

The actors-on-wheels "rode" tightropes, square-danced, (called "square-wheeling" on the program) and even picked up their sliver-spangled wheels in a top-hatted chorus line.

The revue was the brain child of the hospital recreation director, Catherine Nesburn.
