Way Found to Freeze Eggs in Their Shells GARY, Ind.—(U.P.)—That odorous concoction army overseas cooks called scrambled eggs may be missing from the mess hall menu of future G.I's.

Lady in a Hurry, 101, Has First Plane Flight ST. LOUIS—(U.P.)—Mrs. Hatie White of Macon, Mo., took a notion to get to St. Louis from Cleveland in a hurry. So she took her first airplane ride.

DOG AND FAWN MERGE OWOSSO, Mich.—(U.P.)—An English setter and a fawn have become great friends here. The setter discovered the little fawn in a thicket. Since then they have been close companions, emerging from the woods twice a day to take food from a tavern owner.

Whether crime—that is, stories about crime—pays off in wholesale lots will get a test on the radio tonight. If you want to hear about crime, you can get a nearly full schedule of it on Wednesday, from 6 to 9:30.

Bill Doudna's SPOTLIGHT Does Crime Pay?

At 6 there's "Mr. Chameleon" on WBBM. At 6:30, WGN offers "International Airport." WISC starts two hours of mystery dramas at 7, with "The Amazing Mr. Malone," "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes," "Starring Boris Karloff," and "The Croupier" in that order.

Meanwhile, if you missed "International Airport," you can switch over to WKOW at 7:50 and pick it up. Mr. District Attorney is on WIBA at 8:30 and "The Big Story" on the same station at 9. Or you can hear them an hour earlier this week on WMAQ.

"MR. ROBERTS": There's a rumor around that "Mr. Roberts," originally pencilled-in for the Parkway in January, may play the Wisconsin Union theater instead. Stage facilities would be the reason for the switch.

"DUFFY'S TAVERN": Appropriately enough, "Duffy's Tavern" will be sponsored this season by a Milwaukee brewery. The company has signed up for the television rights to the show, too, but doesn't plan to put it on TV at once.

An unusual feature of the contract is that it calls for a straight 52 weeks of airing, without the traditional summer layoff.

ART: Charles Clayton, University of Wisconsin graduate who now heads the Beloit college art department, has an exhibition of 14 paintings and three sculptures at the Milwaukee Art Institute.

Fred Berman, who recently won his master of arts degree at the University, has joined the faculty of the Layton School of Art in Milwaukee.

SHAKESPEARE: The Margaret Webster Shakespearean troupe, due here Nov. 17 and 18, will climb in its buses soon for its 28-week tour of 107 cities. Jumps will be shorter this season because of the increased demand for the company's services.

The company will open Oct. 6 at Woodstock, N. Y., where it will give two performances each of "Julius Caesar" and "The Taming of the Shrew." Next stop will be Rhode Island State college, at Kingston.

OPERA: Thirteen new singers have been signed for the coming season of the New York City Opera Co. In addition, six former leading members will return to the company.

The newcomers will comprise the following foreign artists: Maria Reining, soprano, formerly with the Vienna and Zurich opera companies and the Salzburg Festival; Joan Hammond, British soprano; Eva Lekova, Czechoslovak soprano.

American additions to the company will be Barbara Patton, dramatic soprano; Christina Carroll, soprano; Basel Landia, soprano; Edith Evans, mezzo-soprano; Lucille Warren, contralto; Conchita Gaston, Philippine mezzo-soprano, and Frank Gamboni, baritone.

Other newcomers will be Lorenzo Alvary, bass, and George Jonjeyans, bass.

Those returning to the company after having been absent for a season or more are Eugene Conley, tenor; Richard Bonelli, baritone; Mary Kreste, contralto; Gean his friends are agnost! Wherever you go in this town, you hear so much of the terrific "prosperity" in evidence all during the Del Mar race meet—and also in the Hollywood night spots and restaurants. A very different situation than that which existed around here only a short time ago. And how are things out your way?

Red Skelton and Milton Berle are really going to patty-cake each other in their two new pictures. Red skipped over to Warners one day for a very quick bit in Berle's picture, "Always Keep 'em Laughing"—and therefore gets in a big plug for "The Yellow Cab Man," the new Skelton epic. And in Red's picture, he dished up a scene that contains a big boost for Milton and his movie "debut."

Something else that audiences may get more of a shock from is a scene in "The Cage," the woman's prison picture which stars Eleanor Parker, Agnes Moorhead. There's a sequence in which Eleanor appears with her head as a penalty for violating prison rules. . . Speaking of "the girls"—about the silliest bit of so-called news dropped into our shell-pink ear lately is that a certain independent producer is trying to buy-out up in Santa Barbara, Jessica Tandy, wife of Cronyn, had a leading role in it. Now the show is headed for an opening in San Francisco in a few weeks and Charles Boyer is being paged to take the male lead. If he accepts, the play will head toward Broadway sometime in the late, very late fall. . . Meantime Cronyn, who spends most of his time acting (latest job with Bing in "Top O' the Morning"), can have the job (if he wants it) of scripting the new Alfred Hitchcock picture, "I Confess," which "Hitch" puts before the cameras in this country soon. Cronyn, it appears, is versatile to say the least.

Now that Ava Gardner has been given the role in "Carriage Entrance" that Anne Sheridan walked out on, the picture which co-stars her with Robert Mitchum, goes before the cameras. Gloria long since "cast" in this pillar, are the other toppers.

In a story he just finished for a movie magazine, Jim Henaghan calls Robert Rossellini "the baldest great lover in the business." (That isn't what Ingrid's spouse, Dr. Peter Lindstrom calls him!) It's amazing the way the doctor has been bouncing around to various home parties lately. That's something very new for him—and in any form—can't you? And even if she did, you can just imagine the read-like Leeds figure filling Mae's—er, shoes in that role—huh?

TOO MUCH FOR HIM DETROIT—(U.P.)—Walter J. Burnett was granted a divorce when he testified that his wife, Eileen, consumed his beer and liquor while he was at work, and filled the bottles with colored water before replacing them in the refrigerator.

LAGER BEER means BETTER BEER . . . when it's really LAGERED

Budweiser is one of America's really true LAGER beers. Public records indicate that beer, on the average, is aged thirty days or less—whereas the secondary fermentation process alone exceeds that period in the production of BUDWEISER.

This secondary fermentation period is our special method of AGEING, and gives NATURAL CARBONATION to BUDWEISER.
