The following programs are compiled from reports provided by the broadcasters. No responsibility assumed for last-minute changes which sometimes are made.

DIAL LITES - TONIGHT

6:30—KECA—The sparkling book discussion program "Author Meets the Critic" will offer an attack and a defense of the new book "Our Sovereign State." This is a collection of articles from 13 states. Norman Thomas will speak in favor of the book, while Lawrence Fertig, newspaper editor, will point out what seems to him to be its shortcomings.

6:30—KNX—Sagalong Crosby, and Three-fingers Hope are all set for a wrangle which is to take place during the "English cowboy sketch" on the Bing Crosby Program tonight... fortunately there will be song selections which have nothing to do with the sketch.

7:00—KFI—When a reporter discovers evidence of a murder while covering what looked like a railroad accident, he starts his own investigation, which leads to the capture of a brutal killer. This is the "Big Story" of Jack Hull of Clovis, N. M.

7:30—KNX—As a high light on tonight's "Hollywood Music Hall," Lud Gluskin and the orchestra will salute Pacific Coast football teams.

8:00—KECA—"The Ghost of Clovelly Manor" steps out of a deserted church accompanied by eerie music, and into an underground tunnel in this episode of "Sherlock Holmes."

8:30—KHJ—An Irish folk story "King O'Toole and the St. Kevin" has been specially adapted for hostess Barbara Britton and Arthur Shields, who is starred as the king.

Six Opera Stars on Standard Hour

A brilliant group of six opera stars headed by Soprano Lily Pons, will present selections from several operas on The Standard Hour Sunday on NBC. They will be featured with the San Francisco Opera orchestra, conducted by General Director Gaetano Merola.

The program, final broadcast in the eighth annual grand opera series, will come from NBC studios in Los Angeles and will include selections from "Rigoletto," by Verdi; Donizetti's "The Elixir of Love" and "Lucia de Lammermoor"; "Samson and Delilah" by Saint-Saens; Debussy's "Lakme," and Don Carlos by Verdi. The overture from Flowton's "Martha" will be the single orchestral number.

2 Aces Response to 2 Suit Bid Should Be 4 No Trump

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY

WHEN Fred L. Karpin's new edition of the Point-Count System of Bidding in Contract Bridge was placed on my desk, I had intended to write some articles on the point-count system. However, when I found out how well he had described the ace and king showing responses to an opening bid of two in a suit, I thought my readers would want to know this convention.

The basic principles of this convention have been employed by a great many eastern experts for several years. There is hardly a good player today who would not realize, if his partner made an opening two-bid in a suit, that he was asking for aces.

In today's article (which is the third of a series) Karpin explains, if your partner opens the auction with game-forcing bid of two in a suit, and you, as re-

Phil Harris Script Secret to Orchestra

More than 70 per cent of the Harris-Faye Show doesn't see or hear the script until it is broadcast!

How does Phil Harris manage to keep this secret every week? There are 25 members of the band who rehearse are carefully timed so that they never see or hear the script. The bursts of laughter from the musicians throughout the Sunday evening shows are as spontaneous as those of the studio audience. They're both hearing the program for the first time!

aces opposite partner's opening bid of two in a suit, replied that they would get to a slam even if it wasn't a "lay-down" hand."

Consequently, following the advice and experience of the experts, whenever you hold two aces opposite partner's opening two-bid, your response of four no trump, showing two aces, will be a force to slam. That is, any bid that is made in the five level cannot be passed.

On the hand given today, the bidding was routine. When North Mr. Karpin: "In a poll of 24 of the nation's leading players, it was found that 21 of them, when asked how they felt about reaching a small slam if they held two aces opposite partner's opening bid of two in a suit, and you, as re-
