Picking Week's 10 Top Tunes

By WILLIAM L. DOUDNA

When it comes to picking the 10 top tunes of the week, I put my trust in the Billboard...

One reason for choosing the Billboard is its speed. Often the magazine's lists anticipate other such surveys by a week or more.

The latest available Billboard "Honor Roll" is for the week ending Nov. 25, published in the magazine dated Dec. 3.

Here it is, along with this department's choices of recordings. ONE. "Mule Train." For the first time, we give you Frankie Laine, whose version is the best of the lot...

TWO. "Slipping Around." The Margaret Whiting-Jimmy Wakely pairing is so far above any others that there's no comparison.

THREE. "That Lucky Old Sun." We'll take Vaughn Monroe on this. FOUR. "I Can Dream, Can't I?" Tex Beneke and Hugo Winterhalter share the honors.

FIVE. "Don't Cry, Joe." Take your pick of Frank Sinatra, Juanita Hall, and Ralph Flanagan, depending on what type of disc you prefer.

SIX. "A Dreamer's Holiday." Perry Como and the late Buddy Clark are tops.

SEVEN. "You're Breaking My Heart." Another Clark choice; Flanagan does a good job, too.

EIGHT. "Jealous Heart." Derry Falligan, Hugo Winterhalter, or Bill Lawrence.

NINE. "Someday." Vaughn Monroe. TEN. "Dear Hearts and Gentle People." Doris Day, Dinah Shore.

India Silkworm Highly Rated

caterpillars of wild silk moths. These moths are found chiefly in India. High-grade silk is obtained from the cocoons, and some of it is sold abroad. Most of it, however, is kept for the home market.

The common silkworm produces many times as much silk as the African silkworm and the wild silkworm together. Since it is so much more important than the others, we speak of it as simply "the silkworm."

Story of Two Persians There is a story of two Persian monks who went to China 1,400 years ago. This said that they placed some silkworms in hollow canes and carried them back to Persia. The story explains that the Chinese did not want to let the worms go out of the country, so the monks took them away secretly.

Silkworms usually are kept in trays or boxes. Leaves of the white mulberry tree are picked and fed to them. The worms will eat leaves of black mulberry leaves, but such food does not produce the best grade of silk.

If the cocoons were let alone, moths would come out of them in two or three weeks. This is not allowed to happen, except in a few cases, since the threads would be harmed if the moths broke through the cocoons. The moths which do come forth live only a few days, but during that time some of them lay eggs.

Clergymen Denounce Elaborate Funerals

PORTLAND, Ore. — (U.P.) — Five prominent Portland clergymen have attacked funeral practices because they "glorify the body, not the spirit."

The five ministers joined in a united criticism of "some" funeral directors, ostentatious floral displays, open and elaborate caskets and use of non-religious songs.

There was some disagreement on details. But the five ministers advocated as an ideal solution "a quick disposal of the body at a simple graveside service attended only by the minister, to be followed a few days later by a memorial service at the church."
