SPOTLIGHT
 Three New Art Shows

TIP O' THE MORNING: The International water color show scheduled to open Tuesday at the Memorial Union didn't arrive on schedule from London, Ont. It may have been held up at a customs office. The Union expects it, however, by Saturday.

A dance-drama version of Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" will be given by Orchestras, campus dance society, at the University of Wisconsin Christmas festival in the Wisconsin Union theater next Monday. Louise Kloepper is director and Shirley Genter is musical director.

Ordean Ness will be narrator with Ruth Kienholz as contralto soloist and Ethelma Reich violinist.

The program also will include music by the Wisconsin Harp choir and the Men's Halls chorus, reading of the Nativity story, and community singing.

WESTERNERS: An eight-act "Western jamboree" will be presented at the Eastwood theater Sunday. The cast will include George Gilbertson, trick fiddler; "Salty" Haugen, comedian; Mary Lou, singer; Leon Gilbert, Wanda Starr, Joe and Jackie, Tim Hubert, and Hal Harris.

MUSICAL STARDUST: Elliot Lawrence has signed tenor-sax man Andy Pino, formerly with Gene Krupa. The tenor-sax solo heard on Lawrence's disc, "Got You Right Where I Want You," is from young-timer Phil Urso.

Van Johnson, who in his younger years played violin in an orchestra, admits that his secret ambition is to lead a band.

Billboard picked Sammy Kaye's Victor platter of "Echoes" as a record possibility this week. Bill Snyker is the man behind the guitar which is spotlighted by the echo chamber. Trombonist Lloyd Roberts joined Laura Leslie vocally for the first time to handle the duet.
