Bill Doudna's SPOTLIGHT
News In Brief

TIP OF THE MORNING: Don't be surprised if Victor decides, come spring, to use all three record speeds—78, 33 1/3, and 45. And the Billboard says that the "war" has boosted record sales instead of hurting them, with the industry expecting heavy pre-Christmas sales to carry over into spring.

The Philharmonic chorus of Madison gives its annual Christmas program at 8 tonight in West high school auditorium. Robert Petzold makes his debut as conductor.

Music from the public schools' "Nativity" pageant will be broadcast on WIBA at 4 p. m. Sunday as the first of a series of musical programs by pupils of the Madison city schools.

Margaret Rupp Cooper, Madison harpist, will be soloist in a community Christmas festival in Green Bay tonight. Twelve church choirs and a children's chorus will take part.

The University chorus will repeat its performance of "The Messiah" at 8 p. m. Tuesday, Jan. 10, in Music Hall. This is because so many would-be listeners were turned away Sunday night, when the hall was filled long before the oratorio began.

Robert Nottingham, Madison basso who will sing in "The Messiah" at the Masonic auditorium Sunday, was soloist in a performance of the work at West Bend last Sunday.

Wisconsin Players' fourth annual contest for writers of one-act plays has opened. Chairman James Olson, Madison, announced Wednesday. Entries will be accepted beginning Jan. 1 from 'any student in residence at the University of Wisconsin at the time the play is submitted.' Deadline for entries is Mar. 15; winners will be announced Apr. 3; three top plays will be produced May 16 and 17.

An inspection tour of the Wisconsin Union theater by members of the Madison Theater Guild, originally set for tonight, has been postponed. The Guild members will meet at 7:45 p. m. Friday in
