The Listener Talks Back

Thanks, For The Community

By WILLIAM L. DOUDNA
(State Journal Music Editor)
The traditional thing, and the right thing, to do today would be to say "Cerry Christmas, everybody.

> So here it is, in all sincerity: "Merry Christmas, everybody.

To the people of the theater. radio, the movies, the music and art worlds, and the related fields goes a special greet(as many have done), but for their contabutions to the spirit of the season for the whole com-

All of them have done something special.

They have helped fill empty stockings. They have brought us the feeling of Christmastide in music and drama and painting.

They have given freely of talent and time. They have earned a merry Christmas by giving a merry Christmas.

Life was a struggle for the Guernseys in the creamy milk Burns family, which grew until which they provide. Ayrshire there were seven children. Poor cattle have been sent abroad, and as he was, Mr. Burns wanted his fine herds of them exist in many children to obtain as much education as possible.

Teacher Was Employed

Five families in the area joined owned a small farm, and on it to hire a teacher, and among the pupils was 7-year-old Robert. In later years the teacher deciared that this boy was serious and father's farm. Located near the thoughtful, but had seemed to be coast of the sea, that village was without any gift for music. Among the place where he met a sailor all the pupils. Robert was the least able to carry a tune.

> How amazed the teacher must have been 25 years later! The lad and asked; who had shown so little talent in carrying tunes grew into a writer of songs. They were to become the most popular songs of Scotland, and some of them were to be sung in foreign lands.

At the age of 16, young Burns was allowed to go to the village "Jesus at Bethlehem." named Richard Brown. The sailor took an interest in the poems which the youth recited to him,

"Did you make up these poems vourself?"

"Yes," replied Robert.

"Then you ought to send them o a magazine," said Brown. "They are good enough to be published."

The idea was planted in Burni's mind, and it helped to lead him to
