'Name' Replacements for Some Stars Who Quit NBC

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK. (AP) Since a year ago when a lot of its talent began hieing CBS-ward, NBC has been conducting a search of the Hollywood scene for what might be classified as "name" replacements.

Results have begun to show, or $ at least, some of the folks at Boyer, to name a few of the pros-network headquarters seem to pects, but so far nothing definite think so. They point to a num-while television may be in the ber of recent acquisitions and other prospects that haven't yet panned out.

While television may be in the background as another possibility for all this talent, the stress so far has been on radio alone.

Three shows with Hollywood stars already are in operation. Robert Q. Lewis, who has tablished himself as the permanent replacement for Arthur God-of guest appearances with the Jack Benny show, many of them after the transfer to CBS.

The other is the brand new who-dun-it, Christopher London, With Glenn Ford on Sunday nights.

Guy Lombardo, who besides the own programs does plenty of radio and TV guesting, will pay his annual respects to Twenty the occasion of its fourth annivernights.
