DIAL LITES—TONIGHT

7:00—KHJ—Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin, who has charged that card-bearing Communists are still in government employ, will "Meet the Press" tonight.

8:30—KECA—Two ex-convicts who are planning to kill the witness who was responsible for them going to prison are in turn sought by the "FBI." It is a mad chase to save the man's life and return the would-be killers to prison.

9:00—KNX—Lucille Ball starts a campaign for equal rights . . . so George takes her to dinner and splits the check, makes her repair the car and even remove her hat in an elevator . . . fine . . . but George rebels when his aid is enlisted to help with the housework.

9:30—KHJ—Jack Bailey re-enacts a scene from the life of the inventor, Marconi, during his "Comedy of Errors." Contestants will also pick apart his lecture on bird life.

TELE-TIPS

7:30—KECA—Beautiful Kyle MacDonnell will spar with two ex-fighters on "Celebrity Time." In other words beauty meets the beast . . . the latter are Max Baer and Maxie Rosenbloom, who will punch their way in and out of a bag, to the amusement of the regulars, Ilka Chase and John Daly.

8:00—KTTV—Barton Drake finds it necessary to masquerade as a country rube in order to track down a gangster and his moll in the "Case of the Woman Scorned" on "Mystery Is My Hobby."

9:00—KNBH—Gypsy Markoff, noted accordionist and singer, will be introduced by Harold Barry as the featured guest on the "Versatile Varieties." Also on the show will be 11-year-old Anne Whitfield, who will give an imitation of her radio mother and father, Phil Harris and Alice Faye.

9:00—KTLA—Raymond Massey, Conrad Veidt and Annabella take the lead parts in the motion picture "Under the Red Robe."

TOMORROW

11:00—KECA—The world radio premiere of Moussorgsky's musical drama, "Khavanchina," will be heard on the Met opera broadcast. The cast featured will be the same as the original Met performance . . . Rise Stevens, contralto; Lawrence Tibbett, baritone, and Charles Kullman, tenor.

Timely Squeeze Play Saved Contract in Six No Trump

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
Written for NEA Service

Now that Ed Klauber, former CBS executive, is retired, he and his wife enjoy an evening of bridge. There are some people who believe that husbands and wives should not play bridge together, while on the other hand there are many very successful husband and wife combinations.

I think Klauber and his wife handled the bidding on today's hand very well. In the play of the hand Klauber, sitting North, executed a very nice squeeze play.

The opening lead of the queen of spades was won in dummy with the king. Now Klauber made a safety play. He led a small club to his ace and returned a club, only to find that East was out of clubs. Dummy's queen was played which West won with the king.

The four of diamonds was returned, which dummy won with the king. Klauber proceeded to cash four heart tricks, winning the last heart with the ace and discarding the ten of spades from his hand. The ace of diamonds was cashed and a small spade led to the ace.

Red Box Bank?

NBC's Eddie Albert recounts the sad tale of how he learned thrift: "When I was 8, my father taught me to put my pennies in a little yellow box; when I got nickels, I was told to put them in a blue box; when I got quarters, they went into a red box. I was 27 before I found out the red box was the gas meter."

Durante in Hurry

A new play opened in Los Angeles and Don Ameche asked Jimmy Durante, the NBC comedian, if he had seen it.

"I saw the first act but not the second," said Durante. "I couldn't wait for the next act. The program said, 'Second Act, two years later!'"

His Masterpiece

A fellow who said he writes fiction was a contestant on the Bob Hawk CBS quiz show. "Which of your works of fiction do you think is best?" asked Hawk. Said the contestant: "My last income tax return."
