DIAL LITES-TONIGHT

6:00—KNX—Alan Ladd will deliver the chills on the 'Suspense" show tonight. He plays the part of a detective who returns home to find a man murdered in his apartment . . . the evidence points to Ladd's wife as the murderer but he is certain that a third person is involved . . . his search for the missing link provides a pulse-pounding episode on the "theater of thrills."

7:00—KFI—Hollywood's popular screen actor, Paul Douglas, takes time off for an appearance on Perry Como's "Supper Club." Douglas will join Como, Martin Block and the Fontane Sisters in a parody of his film "Letter to Three Wives." Long famous as a top radio announcer, Douglas will rib his able successor Martin Block.

8:30-KHJ-Dr. Lou Little, nationally famous grid coach of Columbia University will join Ralph Fulton, editor of Sports Afield magazine to answer questions on 'Sports for All.'

9:00-KECA-A special program of "Author Meets the Critic," from the National Book Award Dinner in N. Y., will be aired on this station tonight. The three winners of awards for the most distinguished books of fiction, nonfiction and poetry published in 1949 will receive their honors from the hand of Clifton Fadiman.

9:30-KFI-An address by Secretary of State Dean Acheson on "Basic Principles of American Foreign Policy" will be rebroadcast from the University of California at this time.

TELETIPS

7:15-KTSL-Don and George McCallister, golf authorities, demonstrate their "swinging in rhythm" technique to the "Lee's Lair" audience tonight. They advocate the mastering of control through mass rhythmic prac-

8:00—KNBH—"Pinky Lee" finds himself in the middle of a battle royal between two females who are desirous of getting the lead on his show.

8:30-KECA-There are strange noises, strange goingson and comic suspense when a freshly baked pizza disappears from "Mama Rosa's" boarding house. The eery enigma is solved when she baits the pizza-snatcher with an ingenious trap.

9:30-KTTV-Mike Barnett, the "Man Against Crime," gets his chief clue from a serving of hash which he finds has been garnished with arsenic. He is about to get a bookie-muscle man to turn states evidence when he finds his witness the victim of food poisoning.

The prize is a tent for her family of five to live in after they are evicted from their one-room bungalow soon.

Mrs. Roselle, who is expecting a fourth child in May, asked for the tent when she was named "Queen for a Day" on Jack Bailey's Hollywood radio program. She said she had been unable to find a home for her famy and a tent was all she wanted. Mrs. Roselle, wife of an un-employed carpenter, ran three blocks to a grocery store to answer Bailey's call from Hollywood. She was told she would get the tent—complete with pegs and poles, a crib for the expected baby, a kitchen furniture set, stocks and other home appliances and furnishings. Bailey promised it would all fit in the tent.

It would all fit in the tent.

But the Roselles may not have to live in the tent for long.
Frank Kirkner, Warren, N. Y.,
