TIP O' THE MORNING: Edgewood high school's production of "Quality Street" will be given tonight. We scheduled it wrong in Thursday's column... Apologies to all concerned.

A happy coalition of musical talent from two schools presented a highly satisfactory concert Thursday night at West high school. The groups were the Milton College choir and the Wisconsin School of Music String orchestra. An audience of about 800 persons attended the program, one of a series of joint concerts by these organizations; the next will be Sunday at Rockford, Ill. Margie A. Endres conducts the orchestra and Bernhard H. Westlund directs the choir. In united performances of two Bach works, each conducted one.

The chorus was especially responsive to Westlund in Milhaud's nervous, tense, and sometimes dissonant "Cantata of War," a great example of choral writing in the modern mood.

Except for a lack of tonal strength in the tenors, the Bach works were of high calibre, too. The chorus showed a different facet of its ability in the happy Catalan song, "The Three Kings."

Two worthy singers had solos during the program — Harriet Gross and Mary Wahl in "Cantata of War" and Miss Gross in "The Three Kings."

The orchestra opened the concert with a sturdy production of one of Handel's 12 "Concerti" showing itself a well-balanced and thoroughly trained ensemble. Concertmaster John Fredrickson shone in solo passages.

Henry Lutz.
12:15 p. m. — Farm Service (WIBA): "Meat Will Be Needed—Save Pigs," Roy B. Ormond.
12:30 p. m. — Farm Program (WHA): "Packaged Cheese Attracts Buyers," Merrill Richardson; question box.
