9:30 p. m.—People Are Funny (WIBA): a modern Daniel in a lion's den.

Members of the Madison Civic symphony orchestra report privately that tonight's concert will be something for the books. Some of those who were in Sunday's rehearsal with Pianist Jean Geiss told this department that her performance of Rachmaninoff's second piano concerto promises to be powerful and compelling. The concert will be at 8:15 in the Masonic auditorium. Admission will be free. Doors will be open an hour before concert time, but will be closed during the first number—Mottl's arrangement of ballet music from Gretry's "Cephele and Procris." Schumann's fourth symphony, played without pause between movements, will complete the first half. After intermission, the orchestra will play the introduction and "Persian Dance" from "Khovantchina," and the concert will close with the concerto. Walter Hoerrmann will conduct.

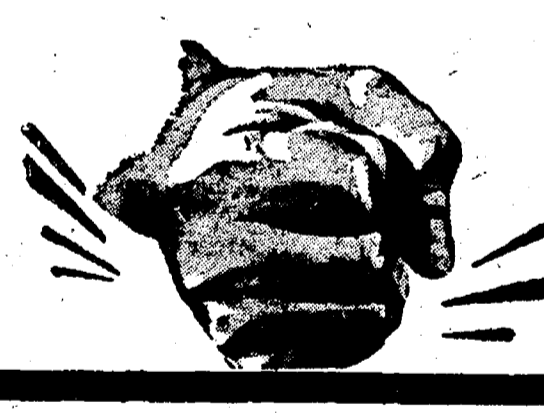

STUDIO PLAY: Pirandello's "Naked" will be presented by Wisconsin Players and the Wisconsin Union theater company at 8:15 tonight in the Play Circle. It will be repeated at 3:30 and 8 p. m. Wednesday. Admission will be limited to Wisconsin Union members who obtain tickets in advance.

MOVIE: University of Wisconsin students and faculty members have been invited to see "Know Your Ally, Britain" and "U. S. A." wartime propaganda films produced by the U. S. and Great Britain, respectively, a 17:30 tonight in 165 Bascom hall. They will be shown for Prof. C. V. Easum's history 37-137 class. Nazi propaganda films will be screened Apr. 20.

THE WINNER: Another neighborhood winner on WKOW's morning "Jackpot" show—Mrs. Ralph Schantz, Cottage Grove, collected $63 last week.

ART EXHIBITION: Thirty-five oils, water colors, and graphics are in the 35th annual exhibition of the Madison Art Guild in the University club, 803 State st. The show will be up through Apr. 30. Public visiting hours are 2 to 5:30 and 7 to 8 p. m. daily. The exhibit opened Sunday with Mrs. W. W. Engelke, Guild president, in charge of the program. James Schwalbach presented awards to artists chosen by himself and Prof. Roland Stebbins, who were the judges. Winners were: Oils—First, Eleanor Matthews, "Back Yards;" second, Mrs. Charles Watson; third, Mrs. R. C. Wright; honorable mention, Mrs. E. B. Tomlinson, Mrs. Oscar Torgeson, and Mrs. Alder White. Water colors—First, Mrs. A. Burkhardt, "October;" second, Mrs.

WHOLE HAM CHEAPER
ST. PAUL, Minn.—(U.P.)—A university nutritionist says it's usually more thrifty to buy a whole ham than in portions. Minnesota found the price per pound of center cut ham steak generally is much higher than for the whole ham that a consumer pays for the shank and butt ends, anyway.
