TIP O' THE MORNING

As a result of showing old Laurel and Hardy films on television, suits may be filed to determine whether a man's livelihood can be injured by re-screening of his old films.

Young, lovely, talented, and enthusiastic Jean Geiss made warm friends in Madison Tuesday night when she was soloist with the Madison Civic Symphony orchestra.

To it all, the orchestra under Walter Heermann's direction (which is growing constantly and rightfully in audience esteem) gave a high grade of musicianship.

More often than usual, this program turned the spotlight on individual performers—Marie Endres, concertmaster; Elizabeth Stutz, cello, and Esther Sadowsky, oboe, in the symphony; Gerald Borsuk, English horn, in the "Khorvanchina" prelude; Patricia Pierstorf, flute, and Robert Woolen, clarinet, in the concerto, and Harold Wilhelmson, horn, in several spots.

This was the sixth concert of the season, the last will be given at 8:30 p. m. Sunday, May 7, in the Masonic auditorium by the orchestra and the Madison Civic chorus.

BRANDY FOR THE GALLANT

HEBRON, N. H.—(U.P.)—Town records disclose that when one Benjamin Woodman finished building the Hebron Church in 1803 he was "extended a vote of thanks and presented a bottle of brandy at the expense of the town for his generous and manly behavior while a resident of the town."
