DIAL LITES -- TONIGHT

7:00-KNX-A typical situation in the life of "My Friend Irma" occurs when she and Al decide to aid the Professor in his new venture in the oil fields. They hear that water has also been discovered on the land and quickly sell out his interests. According to Irma "oil and water do not mix."

7:30—KECA—A dramatic adaptation of John Gunther's book,

"Death Be Not Proud," the tragic account of the death of the author's son, will be presented by the American Cancer Society. This worthy cause will endeavor to raise a fund for use in cancer research, education and service.

9:00—KFI—Inaugurating its 11th year of broadcasting, the "Telephone Hour" presents coloratura soprano Lily Pons, who will sing "Villanelle" and "Song of India."

$:00—KNX—"Inner Sanctum" presents, as a greedy husband and his troubled wife, Everett Sloane and Barbara Weeks in "Beneficiary—Death."

11:00—KHJ—Tomorrow at 1:30 the Boston Red Sox and the New York Yankees play the first game to be heard on this network.

To herald this outstanding sports event major league managers gather tonight to make predictions for their own teams and prognostications for the season ahead.

TELE-TIPS

7:30-KTSL (2)—Chester Morris guests in the top spot with emcee Jerry Lester in "Cavalcade of Stars." Others in the line-up include singer Kyle McDonell and Dizzy Gillespie, famed be-bop trumpeter.

Joseph Kane Is Researcher Who Digs Up Quiz Queries

By CYNTHIA LOWRY Associated Press Newsfeatures Writer.

NEW YORK. (AP) Joseph Nathan Kane is a scholarly, gray-haired man whose occupation is thinking up questions.

It isn't a job that keeps him in the limelight—and he's glad. People who go on quiz shows and flub the $4000 or $500) question are likely to be bitter. Frequently they claim they knew the answer all the time, but complain that the way the question was framed was inadequate or confusing. Right now Joe Kane is devot-
