Donation of Right Trick Good Play to Set Contract

By OSWALD JACOBY Written for NEA Service

"They call me the bridge play-er's friend," Generous George re-marked. "If you're out shopping for tricks, you can get 'em from me wholesale. And if you can't afford to pay, I'll give you a trick for nothing." His partner grinned, but the op-ponents were not amused. George's generosity had just done them out of a vulnerable game. The bidding was reasonable senough, and the final contract was quite logical. Against ordi-cubs he first clubs, he is may defense, South would have the spades for the first clubs, he is cut begins the clubs, he is cut begins the clubs, he is cut begins the first club, he can made three no trump in a wark, set up the spades but can never "They call me the bridge play-(mal defense.
