Who Said Summer Doldrums?

By FRED WARING
Over the past half dozen years, the summer months seem to shape themselves into busy periods for the Pennsylvanians and myself. Time was when March winds and April showers started making us aware of approaching June...

Now, in contrast, the summer of 1950 seems already loaded with coming events. Of course we shall continue to do a certain amount of radio work in addition to that we plan to spend about three weeks in recording sessions...

The lovely atmosphere makes us forget a kind of sword-of-Damocles that hangs over our heads. This is the volunteer fire department's siren atop the building. So far it has never sounded while we were making a record...

On July 10 our Music Workshop opens its fifth annual session. It will run for six weeks and has been over-booked since May. The "students" are choir directors from schools, colleges, churches, and industrial organizations...

Dr. Lara Hoggard, my brilliant young choral director, is the dean of our Workshop and I am just a member of his staff. For five intensive days each week Lara and I and other members of the Pennsylvanians demonstrate our group singing techniques and try to help the choir directors improve their singing courses...

I do not mean to give the idea that for us summer is all work and no play. With curtailed performing schedules, many of the Pennsylvanians will find time to visit their folks at home. As you probably know, being a Pennsylvanian is a matter of adoption for many of our people...
