Democrats to Hold Picnic Sunday

Both Democratic candidates for governor and all four U. S. senate candidates plan to address the Dane county Democratic club at its annual picnic Sunday, Aug. 13, it was announced Friday.

The picnic to be held at Olbrich park in Madison, is expected to draw 400 or more county Democrats and their families, Asst. Dir. Atty. Roland Day, picnic chairman, said.

Speakers will be Carl W. Thompson, Stoughton, and Charles P. Green, Milwaukee, candidates for the party nomination for governor; and Atty. Gen. Thomas E. Fairchild, Dan Hoan, William E. Sanderson and La Verne Dilweg, on the U. S. senate ticket.

Candidates for other state offices, 12 Dane county offices, second district congress, and Dane county assembly seats will be introduced. Picnickers are invited to bring their lunches, but there will be soft drinks and hot dogs for sale on the grounds.

The affair opens at 1:30 p. m., and the candidates' talks will begin at 3:30. There will be games for the children, and probably a softball game in the afternoon.

The picnic is open to the public.

Harold Stone's Condition 'Good' After Explosion

Harold Stone, 51, of 848 Jenifer st., was reported in “good” condition Friday night at Methodist hospital where he was taken for treatment of second degree burns suffered in an explosion of a portable alcohol burner.

Stone, an employe of the Raymond Bros. Decorating Co., was using the burner to steam wall paper from rooms in an unoccupied house at 1028 W. Dayton st. The flash fire which accompanied the explosion burned Stone's left leg and right hand.

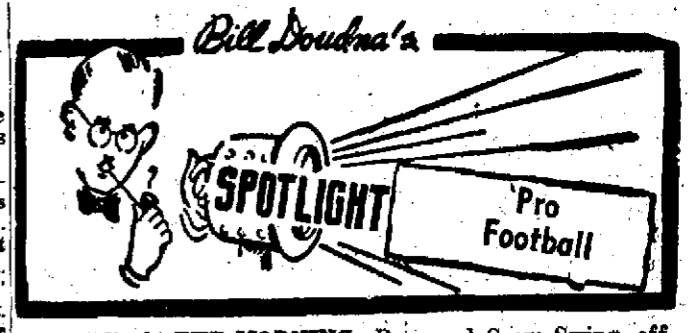

Firemen from No. 1, 2, and 4 companies sped to the scene, but the flash fire did not ignite the building. The property owner is City Councilman Harrison L. Garner, firemen said.

State Polio Cases Now Total 81

Twenty-one new polio cases, including seven in Milwaukee county, brought Wisconsin's 1950 total to 81.

The state board of health said Friday that the following counties had reported new cases this week: Fond du Lac, three; Rock, two; and Brown, Columbia, Dane, Dunn, Kenosha, Lincoln, Oneda, Walworth and Wood, one each.

There were 185 cases in the state Aug. 7, 1949.

TIP O' THE MORNING: Raymond Gram Swing, off the air several years because of ill health, is reported ready to return with a three-times-a-week news commentary.

The Liberty Broadcasting system, which specializes in sports and special events, will extend its network into Wisconsin beginning Sunday, Sept. 17, Pres. Gordon McLendon announced Friday.

He did not list the Wisconsin stations.

The network will carry all 1850 games of the New York Yankees, professional football team, from coast-to-coast. According to Ted Collins, Yankees owner, this is the first time in radio history that “big pro gridiron contests will be aired from coast to coast on a regular basis, with every game of the New York Yanks, at home and away, being broadcast directly from the field.”

The dates and opponents: Sept. 17, San Francisco 49ers; Sept. 22, Los Angeles Rams; Sept. 29, Detroit Lions; Oct. 8, Green Bay Packers; Oct. 12, 49ers; Oct. 22, Chicago Bears; Oct. 29, Chicago Bears; Nov. 12, Bears; Nov. 23, Lions; Dec. 10, Baltimore Colts.

Extension of the network contemplates an increase in coverage from 71 stations in nine states to more than 300 in 48 states.

“ST. LOUIS WOMAN”: W. C. Handy, “father of the blues,” hopes that the “St. Louis woman” will be listening to NBC tonight, when the “Chamber Music Society of Lower Basin St.” (WIBA at 9) will play host to the composer and present a special Handy program.

While reminiscing about his early song-writing days, Handy, now 76, recalled that there actually was a St. Louis woman.

A chance occurrence was responsible for the song. During his salad days, Handy was in St. Louis, dead broke. He was standing on a street corner, feeling sorry for himself, when he saw “the prettiest woman I had ever seen or have ever since.” She was the epitome of poise and glamour. He never met her but he never forgot her.

Twenty-one years later, she unknowingly became one of the most celebrated women in popular song—the “St. Louis Woman.”

Jane Pickens, the “Escortier,” and Henry Levine's “Have You Et' Octet” will present their version of the number tonight.

Though “St. Louis Woman” made lots of money, Handy's favorite among all the blues he has written is “Memphis Blues.” This song was originally a political campaign tune called “Mr. Crump,” and it started Handy on his popular song-writing career.

Prior to writing the number, the composer had turned out only “serious” music, mostly for church. His father was a minister. “Memphis Blues” is also notable for containing the first “jazz break.” It set the pattern for most “swing” and “hot” music which was to follow.

Today, Handy lives in Yonkers, N. Y. He lost his sight 22 years ago. Three years later he regained it, but lost it again and has been blind for the past 11 years. Despite his age and his handicap, he is currently at work on a new blues which, he says, he has wanted to write for the past 20 years. The mayor of his town has also asked him to write a “Yonkers Blues.” Handy says he will, and for a reason: It is the only town in which he ever lived where he couldn't see what the women looked like.

University personnel who will participate include Dean John Guy Fowles and Paul W. Eberman, school of education, and Chairman Leland Coon, Prof. Samuel T. Burns, Richard Church, Raymond F. Dvorak, and Instructor Robert M. Fleury, all of the school of music.

Topics to be discussed include “A Basic Theory of Voice Production for Elementary Children,” “Music as a Unifying Force,” “Where and How to Create Music,” “How to Interest the Adolescent Who is Indifferent to Music,” and “A Plan for Music in Wisconsin's Rural Schools.”

Samuel T. Burns, professor of music and education, is general chairman. His committee includes C. L. Schultz, state department of public instruction, Carlton Patt, Wisconsin Music assn.; Fleury, and Prof. Emmett R. Sarig.

Stafford-Hudson Put Up for Sale

Stafford-Hudson Motors, Inc., 323-25 W. Johnson st., was put up for sale Friday by Clifford Q. Stafford, president-treasurer of the firm.

Stafford said that he is selling the business in order that he can retire.

A Madison automobile dealer for the past 25 years, Stafford was associated with Buick dealers here for 20 years before taking over the Hudson dealership on Sept. 1, 1945.

He lives at 5448 Mendota dr.

Home Nursing Courses to Start on Aug. 15

Home nursing courses sponsored by the American Red Cross will begin Aug. 14 and 15 and registration for the classes will remain open through Aug. 13. Mrs. Maud Jensen, director of Red Cross nursing services announced.

Although the enrollment quota is being rapidly filled, other classes will be started to handle any overflow, Mrs. Jensen said.

A new home nursing textbook will be introduced and the courses will be held in the newly equipped classroom at 302 E. Washington avenue.

Women wishing to enroll or obtain more information may call the American Red Cross at 5-0021.

Cherry Picker Jobs Filled, Bureau Reports

A heavy in-migration of cherry pickers has filled all available openings in the Sturgeon Bay area, the state employment service said.

Mexican family groups from Texas will be finished with their contracts for cherry picking about Aug. 15 and will be interested in arranging for other work.

Offices desiring Texas Mexican workers should furnish the Sturgeon Bay office, phone 1188, with complete orders including information as to whether there is work available for crew leaders' trucks.

Pastor Appeals Tax Levy on Home

The Rev. Erling Ylvisaker, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran church of the Holy Cross, filed a claim with the city council Friday for refund of $249 in taxes paid under protest on his home at 2702 Milwaukee st.

The refund was asked on ground that the property is entitled to tax exemption.

While he owns the house, it is used as a parsonage, his claim explained. The church owns no parsonage, but pays him $50 monthly rental which is used for maintenance of the building, he said.

The tax in effect was a $249 tax against the church, he held, because it will be required to reimburse him for the amount now it is refunded.
