Sunday school enrollment totaled 1,079, the report revealed. National enrollment was 1,465,844.

Busy Canneries Boost Wisconsin's Factory Job Total

Factory employment in Wisconsin climbed 7.8 per cent in July, with much of the rise traceable to a busy canning season, the state industrial commission reported Thursday.

Employment jumped from 333,400 workers in June to 359,500 in July.

Aside from the seasonal boost given employment by food processing plants, worker levels were far above the same period of last year.

Factories in the state, excluding canneries, had 332,800 workers in July this year, compared to 301,900 in July, 1949.
