'Laxity' Charges in Oil Shipments to Chinese Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Investigating senators heard testimony Thursday which left Sen. Herbert O'Connor (D-Md.) convinced that "laxity" permitted half a million gallons of war-torn American gasoline oil to reach Red China after fighting began in Korea.

They got three official suggestions on the nature of the leak: ONE. A legalistic loophole—the fact that the oil was technically "in transit," out of this country when an embargo on such shipments went on. It was stored in Japan and transhipped later.

TWO. Inadvertence, in a long somewhat failed by oversight.

THREE. Conflict of jurisdiction, perhaps between authorities here and in Japan.

None of that satisfied O'Connor, chairman of the commerce subcommittee investigating reports of strategic items shipped to the Korean Communists' northern neighbors and sympathizers.

"I won't use the word 'holation,' yet," O'Connor told reporters after the hearing recessed, "but there is no question that 13,000 drums of oil have been sent to Communist China since early June, 11,500 of them since the Korean crisis and all of them after the embargo ordered in Washington."

Couple Tells Plan for Mendota Bus

'Willing to Work,' They Ask Franchise

A young Madison couple who list among their limited assets "the ability to work" told the state Public Service Commission (PSC) Thursday their plans to make a bus route of Mendota-Suburban Lines, serving Maple Bluff, Lakeview, Mendota, and Westport.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lukins, 129 E. Gorham st., have operated the bus service in the area since Sept. 20 under the franchise of the Maple Bluff-Mendota Bus Lines, owned by Mrs. Julia Arendsee and her son. The Arendsees have asked to have the franchise revoked.

Harris Drops Plans

Lukins, former driver for the Arendsees, took over after O. C. Harris dropped his plans to continue the Arendsee routes, which he took over last spring.

Harris and two associates in Surface Lines, Inc., which also had operated in Maple Bluff and a run in Monona Village, told the PSC in a letter Thursday that they had dropped their plans, and asked to withdraw the application.
