DIAL LITES — TONIGHT

6:00—KFI—A dying man can be saved by only one brain surgeon, but refuses the operation when he hears the name of the doctor on "Night Beat" tonight. Reporter Randy Stone delves into the case and helps to save the patient's life.

7:30—KHJ—The story of how the little community of Bitter Creek turned into a ghost community will be told tonight on the series of "The Cisco Kid."

8:30—KFI—The second adventure of Rex Stout's brilliant, erratic, gargantuan detective, Nero Wolfe, finds a man calling himself Charles Porter giving a thousand dollars if Wolfe will not accept a case.

9:00—KECA—Turns a skeleton in the closet, a rather noisy one, but as there is to be the incarnation of good times and laughter in an episode called "The Halloween Party" on "The Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet."

TOMORROW

8:00 A. M.—KHJ—Key civic and governmental defense officials will be interviewed this morning during the special series of public service "Handbook for Life" programs concerning "Atomic Bomb Do's and Don'ts."

FOOTBALL IN FOUR-QUARTER TIME

Dog Not Frightened Now; It's Back Home

Star isn't frightened anymore. The four-pound Chihuahua dog that got lost and ended up at the Animal Shelter has been restored to his rightful owner, Mrs. Enid Jones, 148 E. 23rd St.

Custodians at the shelter had reported the dog acted terrified in the strange surroundings. A friend of Mrs. Jones, who knew she had lost her dog, saw an article about Star in yesterday's

U. S. Ships to Carry Yule Gifts to Korea

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27. (AP) U. S. Military ships may carry clothing and toys to Korean children for Christmas.

Secretary of the Navy Matthews authorized the shipments from Oakland, Calif., when ships have space available.

The transportation was asked by the Marine Corps League, which is collecting toys and clothing for Korean children.
