QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ABOUT

Military Service

Editor's note: Douglas Larsen, NEA Service Washington correspondent, tells how the Korean war and U. S. mobilization affects reservists, veterans, draft-age men and others likely to be called to service. He answers questions only in this space, not by mail.

Q. Why isn't the National Guard allowed to come home and visit more than they are? Since the men from our town were taken in active service they haven't been home once.
A. Once a guard unit is federalized it comes under the same regulations on leave and furloughs as any other Army unit. After the first period of training, however, you can probably look for some leave being given to the boys from the outfit.
Q. When the son of a neighbor of mine was drafted recently he was underweight. He went to camp and started drilling and collapsed. He was in the hospital a while and sent out to less strenuous duty and collapsed again. His mother is very sick over this situation. What should she do?
A. This man should seek a discharge from the Army on grounds of physical disability. Army regulations provide for such discharges. He will be given a thorough physical examination to determine his condition.
Q. I recently received a telegram ordering me into service in the Air Force. Then I received a telegram revoking those orders. I am a reservist. What is my outlook?
A. Except for a very few highly critical specialists there are no more involuntary recalls of reservists being made by the Air Force. It is obvious that you are not in that critical specialist category because of the way you can sit back and enjoy life with the chances of an involuntary call extremely slim.

Q. Just before my husband was called to active duty we bought a new house and car. We could afford them then. But now we can't on his Army pay and they are threatening to take court action. On top of that I am going to have a baby. What can I do?
A. You should have your husband ask for advice from a representative of the Judge Advocate General's office in his unit. You are protected against such action by creditors by the Soldiers and Sailors Civil Relief Act.
Q. I am a disabled veteran of World War II. I am 35 years old. If they raise the age limit on the men they draft what will be my status?
A. As stated here many times it is not possible to answer questions based on speculation as to what Congress might do to the present draft law. However, if you are 38, a veteran of World War II and disabled, it is common sense that your chances of being drafted are very slim, unless there is a full-scale war.
Q. Does a soldier need a leave at the end of his basic training?
A. Most of them do but there is no rule in the Army which says they must.
Q. Will the boys who enlisted for two years in the service in October, 1949, be released at the expiration of their enlistment?
A. Those men who enlisted in October, 1949, for two years may be released in October, 1951, regardless of their station. They will be subject to call by the draft, however, if they meet the requirements at that time.
Q. In the new point system affecting reservists do combat awards refer to such things as the Purple Heart, Silver Star, etc.?
A. Yes. Points may be accrued only on the Medal of Honor, Distinguished Service Cross, Navy Cross, Distinguished Flying Cross, Silver Star, Bronze Medal and Purple Heart. No points are awarded on major battle engagements.
Q. My husband would like to re-enlist in the Navy. I don't want him to. Would the fact that we have two kids keep him out?
A. No.
Q. My buddy and I filled out our questionnaires together. He is as healthy as I am. We both

Phil Harris' 'The Thing' Will Aid Needy Children

SINCE the day Phil Harris recorded his fantastically successful recording of "The Thing," queries to its identity have reached overwhelming proportions.
The National Broadcasting Company, along with Phil and his wife Alice Faye, decided, some time ago, to take this popular gimmick and convert it into something useful, something which would serve the American appetite for the unusual, and at the same time do good.
"The Thing" itself is very simple.
It might be the embodiment of American ideals which enable neighbor to aid neighbor. It might be the fulfillment of the Christmas spirit which urges all of us to make it a nicer year-round holiday for those who are a bit more unfortunate in regards to material things.
NBC stations throughout the country, along with individual community services, have begun asking neighbors to donate all sorts of Christmas toys-dolls, games, anything kids like-so that they can be distributed in each particular community throughout the country in time to reach children by Christmas time.
"The Thing" drive will provide all these toys to needy kids on the holiday, with the co-operation of the various stations and local charities throughout the land.
Spot announcements, special newly recorded lyrics of "The Thing," disc jockey programs, and promotion on many coast-to-coast NBC programs will be utilized to ensure a successful drive for a happier and merrier Christmas for thousands of children.

Q. I am very sick with TB. But the doctor says I will be all right if I don't worry about anything. However my husband is in the Air Force and I have been sent overseas. This is making me worse. Is there anything I can do to get a guarantee that my husband will not be sent overseas so that I can continue to get well?
A. The only chance is for your husband to apply for discharge from the Air Force on grounds of hardship. As long as he is on active duty he is subject to service anywhere they might want to send him.
Q. In 1945 I was relieved of active duty with a Certificate of Service. I was a junior grade warrant officer. Am I eligible to be recalled to active duty?
A. You are eligible but the Army is not recalling men in that group.

Q. I am a reservist. What is my outlook?
A. Except for a very few highly critical specialists there are no more involuntary recalls of reservists being made by the Air Force. It is obvious that you are not in that critical specialist category because of the way you can sit back and enjoy life with the chances of an involuntary call extremely slim.
