The following programs are compiled from reports provided by the broadcasters. No responsibility assumed for last-minute changes which sometimes are made.

DIAL LITES — TONIGHT

6:00—KFI—Stumbling through a welter of Christmas presents from admiring radio fans of his "Uncle Goodheart" program, the same sweet "Magnificent Montague" (Monty Woolley) rages his way to breakfast!

7:00—KFI—The extraordinary story of how Chester A. Riley behaved during the birth of his first child will be told tonight.

8:30—KNX—Time now for that full-hour documentary broadcast as written, directed and narrated by Edward R. Murrow titled, "Hear It Now."

8:30—KECA—"This Is Your FBI" program will present its traditional Christmas story, "The Return of Saint Nick."

9:30—KHJ—A special program will be presented titled, "Pan-American Christmas."

SPECIAL TOMORROW

11:00 A. M.—KECA—The Metropolitan Opera Company today presents the opera "Faust" with the Metropolitan Opera Chorus and Orchestra.

1:30—KFI—The City of Los Angeles again salutes the nation with a special Christmas broadcast, featuring the voice of Ezio Pinza as soloist, and the famous choir of 100 voices with the 35-piece orchestra selected from members of the Los Angeles Philharmonic.

TELE-TIPS

7:00—KTSL—Another group of talent will pass in review before the camera tonight as they seek the "Hollywood Road to Fame."

7:45—KTTV—The Little Singers from Paris (Les Petits Chanteurs A La Croix De Bois), winding up a tour of the United States, will make their first TV appearance as guests tonight on the "Perry Como Show."

9:30—KECA—Brian Donlevy and Gene Raymond will star in "The Pharmacist's Mate," a story of heroism aboard a U. S. Navy submarine in World War II, during "Pulitzer Prize Playhouse."

10:30—KTLA—Stan Chambers will be on deck with a screenful of musical luminaries in a Christmas edition of "Nightowl Variety."

EMILY AND MABEL By Angelo

"Young man, let me see your pistol permit!"

Questions From Readers Answered by Criswell

Q. Can Ethel be the good mother that she claims? Wilbur D. A. You are seeking to replace a loyal wife. Your present wife made herself old through bearing your children and making you a home, and now you wish to discard her for this woman you met in a bar! You will return to your wife and children and thank God your eyes were opened in time.

Q. How long will my husband stay on the job? Ima M. A: Until early summer, and then he will be transferred. Accept that office in January in your lodge.

Q. Will I ever get any returns from my 100 shares? Mrs. Elizabeth C. A: Take your shares to your bank and have them try and sell them for you.

Q. Who stole the things from Mother? Mrs. Virginia R. A: They were not stolen, but misplaced. She will find that she is wrong. You will sell the house by spring and live some place to the north. You will soon have another child, a boy.

Q. Can you tell me where to go to seek his health? A: If you will take your son to the clinic and let the doctors tell him what is wrong, rather than him telling them, he then will have this ailment corrected. Your son has been through a personal tragedy, but will soon be on the high road to happiness again.

Q. Where is our pet cat we are fond of? Mrs. Gladys F. A: The cat will return within two weeks.

Q. Will I sell my home and will I marry again? Sally R. You will sell your home by early April and you will marry the man who escorted you to your sister's wedding.

Q. Will I leave the city? Mrs. BR-IBL. A: Yes, by early your children over the holidays. Your husband is a thing of the past.

Q. Will my mother-in-law ever change? How will my husband make out in his school work? Mrs. Mary G. A. Your mother-in-law will go east soon. Your husband wants a lot of babying as he was always his mother's boy. He will soon change schools, and will be under a man whom he respects. Things will be much better for you in 1951.
