Pre-School Children Well Immunized, City Survey Shows
Madison pre-school children were well immunized from common contagious diseases before they entered kindergarten last fall, according to results of a survey announced Friday by the city health department.
PTA summer roundup chairman of all city school areas visited the homes of all prospective kindergarten partners last summer, leaving questionnaire blanks to be filled out by the family physicians making immunizations.
The questionnaires, 1178 of 91 per cent of which were returned out of 1,294 issued, were referred to state health department statisticians for analysis.
The completed study showed that 91 per cent of the 1,179 children represented in the returns had been immunized both for diphtheria and whooping cough; 82 per cent for tetanus; and 80 per cent had been vaccinated.
The analysis showed a highly satisfactory status of immunization with the possible exception of smallpox. Health Commissioner C. K. Kincaid declared. Parents of the unvaccinated 20 per cent will be urged to have them immunized, he said, explaining that the process is easy, painless, and inexpensive.
"The sooner it is done, the better," he advised.

Review Board Cuts Two Assessments; Confirms 5 Others
The city board of review, in a half-day session Friday, granted two reductions in assessed valuations and confirmed five increases.
The $8,200 valuation on the home of Mrs. Josephine Gent, 701 Swain st., was cut to $7,400, still $3,000 above last year's $4,400; while Sam Sweet, 917 Milton st., received a reduction to $8,500 to $8,900 compared with last year's $5,850.
Increases on two properties owned by Jack Meehan were confirmed, from $18,900 to $22,800 at 2005-O University ave., and $20,200 to $24,600 at 2005-11 University ave.; also on those of Vernon G. Gessler, 344 Gregory st., $2,450 to $4,700; Ruth M. Kilgust, 421 Clemens ave., $4,100 to $5,000; and Ernest F. Widman, 21 N. First st., $5,875 to $7,000.
The board will hold hearings every day next week, with 11 individuals scheduled to appear Monday.
Atty. W. J. P. Aberg will be heard Tuesday and Wednesday on 10 or more properties, including the Gay bldg.; Thursday's session will be devoted to A. J. Fiore; while Friday's schedule includes the Park hotel, and A. E. Friede, representing the Madison Stores and State St. Realty Co.
