At The Shows

Orpheum
FEATURE: "Call Me Mister."
TYPE: Musical.
CAST: Shep Dooley, Dan Daiter, Kay Hudson, Betty Grable, Stanley Danny Thomas.
REVIEWER: Wally Wikoff.
STORY: After the Japs surrendered the entertainment units for GIs kept right on and Kay Hudson's troops got set for "Call Me Mister," a song and dance show in Japan. By sheer coincidence as only Hollywood can coincide, Kay bumps into her wayward husband, a sergeant Dooley. Seems they were on the verge of divorce before the war... a few army violations pile up on Dooley in his efforts to win back his wife but his court martial is no barrier to "the show must go on" tradition.

HIGH POINTS: Danny Thomas' humor pulled a mediocre play up by its bootstraps to the level of the funnybone... the scene which razed the airforce will please infantrymen especially.
LOW POINTS: Grable trying to emote like Bankhead is like Bankhead trying to dance like Grable... disjointed plot with considerable conservation of scenery.
VERDICT: Thanks to Danny Thomas, it's worth seeing.
ALSO: Cartoon about Gerald McBoing, the famed lad who couldn't talk normally. Worth the price of admission to see this alone.

EVIL FOR GOOD
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — (U.P.) — Harvey Head played benefactor un-wisely. Head got Ray Hall out of jail by paying his fine for passing bad checks. He gave Hall a job. Before the day was over, Hall was missing. So was $300 from Head's wallet. Head complained to police.
