LOOKING AND LISTENING

Joe Hernandez, Veteran Race Announcer, Has Seen 25,000 Races in 23 Years

By TOM DANSON
WE ALL have, at sometime or other heard that familiar voice saying . . . "and there they go" . . . immediately associating it with that veteran race track caller, Joe Hernandez, who this year celebrates the 23rd year in this field.
Whether it be at the track, or on radio or television, Joe is always there to well spot and call even the close photo finishes. Heard coast-to-coast during the various track seasons, Joe Hernandez calls for such tracks as: Longacres, Pimlico, Belmont Park, Churchill Downs, Santa Anita, Hollywood Park, Bay Meadows, Tanforan, Del Mar and Caliente, with a short two-week stretch in the fall from the Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona. He says that he has seen approximately 25,000 races during his career, but only two have really ever been listed as his favorites.
He considers the most exciting race he has ever broadcast, the San Juan Capistrano Handicap at Santa Anita in 1950, where the closeness of Noor and Citation left him limp. His second favorite was Seabiscuit winning the Santa Anita Handicap in 1940. Presently working a very close schedule, the 41-year-old track expert flies to Bay Meadows during the week days, returning to Los Angeles in time to call the Sunday racing at Caliente, where he has his own camera crew film the day's events, showing them every Monday evening at 7 p. m. over KNBH.

Let's Explore Your Mind

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

1. IS A PERSON WHO DOESN'T HAVE THE SAVING HABIT COMPLETELY HONEST? YES NO
2. IS THERE ONE THING, OFTEN UNREALIZED BY PARENTS, THAT NEARLY ALL KIDS WANT? YES NO
3. IS MUTUAL FAILURE TO SYMPATHIZE THE REASON FOR SOME COUPLES' UNHAPPINESS? YES NO

Answer to Question No. 1
No, it's chiefly because they cannot empathize together. Mt. Holyoke College Psychologist Rosalind Dymond says to sympathize you merely feel sorry for a person and wish to help him. But to empathize, you must: 1. Look at a person as you think he deserves; 2. Look at himself as you think he looks at himself; 3. Look at your self as you think you deserve; 4. Look at yourself as you think he looks at you. Until you have considered these aspects, you can't understand the other fellow.
Answer to Question No. 2
No. Saving is a sign of a well-balanced, honest character. When people say they can't save, they are usually dishonest. They mean they can't see all the movies, have the "right" clothes, a swank car, or give their children "things other children have," etc. It's a rare person who can't save a little, to cultivate the habit, if nothing else. It's the habit that counts.
Answer to Question No. 3
Yes. A nation-wide survey of high school students by Psychologist H. H. Rogers showed that the chief desire of nearly all young persons is to please their parents. Even when at odds, they desire to induce their parents to approve demands that seem to them reasonable; to be trusted, to be allowed to act like normal, independent young people with some intelligence. The survey finds conflicts are more often due to parents' over-strict demands than to youngsters' unreasonable ones.
