TIP O' THE MORNING: "Jezebel" sounds like another hit for Frankie Laine. Fits his style perfectly.

Development of musical interest at Oakwood, at the Wisconsin School for Girls near Oregon, has reached such a point that four entries in the Evansville school music festival received stars, entitling them to take part in the State Solo Ensemble festival here on May 12.

Julia Benoy Landmark, Oakwood's music instructor, entered the girls' glee club and 12 vocal soloists and ensembles in the Evansville event. The chorus and seven solo-ensemble entries received first-division ratings. A duet, a trio, and two soloists won stars from the judges.

This was the fifth time in Mrs. Landmark's six years at Oakwood that the glee club has received top rating.

Ethel C. Brubaker, superintendent of the school, has encouraged the girls to take part in forensic, dramatic, and music events for which most Wisconsin schools are eligible.

"For many of the girls at Oakwood," Mrs. Landmark said, "this has been their first experience in music festival participation.

"With the assurance that comes with success in any field, many of the Oakwood students should return to their homes and communities, or go on to new places, ready to add to the music of the locality."

mortal tenor with fidelity to the human drama of his life. And Mario Lanza, on the screen nearly every minute of the running time, sings the opera arias in a way that would have provoked Caruso himself to admiration. In "Good-bye, My Fancy," Joan Crawford proves herself as adroit in brittle comedy as in those tough babes of the world roles, but the comedy-drama itself is slight and somewhat dull. Loretta Young in "Half Angel" isn't even half good.

Judy Canova will have just a few days off between finishing her current "Oklahoma Annie" and the start of her next, "A WAC from Walla Walla." This is not to be confused (but how can you help it?) with "A WAC in His Life" which stars June Haver and Bill Lundigan.

Those out-loud hassels between Deanna Durbin and spouse Charles David can be heard all the way to here.

Dan Dailey's been dating Virginia Grey; D. Dailey's been dating Peggy Lee; Dan D's been dating—well, he's been awfully busy lately!

Candy Toxton (it says here) will make some records along with husband Mel Torme. Please not we didn't say they'd be singing. Rumors won't down that Mrs. Jerome Kern (widow of the great composer) is about to marry young singer George Byron.

Eastern spies say the stork's on his way to the Henry Fonda-Susan Blanchard castle.

Don't hold your breath till the proposed movie-starring of Katherine Cornell in a filmization of Florence Nightingale takes place.

Of course, if la Cornell is ever going to immortalize herself on celluloid after the countless offers she turned down, this vehicle would be a natural. Besides, it's "fancier" than she thinks! Too—a story based on the Nightingale's life happens to be on the agenda for at least one other star who already has proved her movie box-office worth.

Lilly Pons has been taking ballet-dancing lessons like mad for months—along with a bunch of teen-agers. Just for her own amusement.

Carmen Miranda and Dave DeBastian are next on the list Hollywoodians set to adopt a baby. They expect to take a six-month-old boy into their house.

Jesse Lasky, Jr., son of the famed producer, has finished his writing stint on "The Rosary" at Metro and now goes to Columbia for further script chores.

Sam Fuller, the smartie who turned out "Steel Helmet" for peanuts and parlayed it into one of the big boxoffice hits of the year, has grabbed off a contract at 20th Century-Fox.
