1. DO MEN AND WOMEN GET MAD ON THE SAME DAYS? DAYS? Answer to Question No. 1.

Sometimes, but a cureful study showed that men are more likely to get mad during the week, while women tend to get their dander up more often on week ends and holidays. When I go on a trip or picnic, not only my wife, but other men's wives, get more exasper-ated at a tire blowout, or if there are ants in the butter.
During the week us men have our jobs and other things and people to get mad at, while women merely have a picnic

women merely nave a picnic doing house of office work.

Answer to Question No. ?
Yes, in some ways. W. Edgar Gregory reports that when he was in the Armed Forces in the Pacific he and his buddles were unimpressed by the lovely scen. Yes, in some ways. W. Edgar Gregory reports that when he was in the Armed Forces in the Pacific he and his buddles were unimpressed by the lovely scenery, luxurious flowers, etc. They yearned for home. But when they got home they Iemembered the joys of Army life, its freedom from responsibility, the gay razzing of one's buddles, etc. We idealize what we don't have.

Answer to Question No. 3
Yes. The tendency to have accidents, as Dr. Franz Alexander shows in his book, "Psycho-So-matic Medicine" (Mind-Body Medicine), is not caused by clumsiness or slow reaction clumsiness or slow reaction time, but something deep within one's personality. One company found that about 3 per cent of its truck drivers had over one-third of its accidents. These "accident-prone" drivers were transfered to other jobs, but they continued to have accidentis!
